Hospital Receives Armour Chair of Neurology

Presbyterian-St. Luke's Hospital will receive a gift of $500,000 to create the Jean Schweppe Armour Chair of Neurology, the first endowed chair to be established at a hospital in Chicago. The contribution will be made by relatives and friends as a memorial to Mrs. Armour.

"This gift will perpetuate the name of one who for many years was a faithful friend and loyal supporter of Presbyterian-St. Luke's Hospital," said Norman A. Brady, executive vice president.

It is the donors' intention to contribute an amount large enough to provide an annual income sufficient to cover the major personnel costs. They also stated their belief that the principal of the fund supporting the Armour Chair would have growth enough to cover a large share of the cost of the department of neurology, including its teaching and research.

The field of neurology is a branch of medicine dealing with the nervous system, its structure and diseases. "This field has become an integral part of medical science," Mr. Brady said, "and is a most important department in a major teaching and research hospital such as Presbyterian-St. Luke's."

Appointed to fill the Jean Schweppe Armour Chair of Neurology is Maynard M. Cohen, M.D., present chairman of the department of neurology at the hospital.

Group Insurance Rates Rise But Not Cost To Employees

The cost of providing life insurance and accident benefits has increased, but this increase will be paid by the hospital and there will be no increase in the monthly rates for employee coverage.

Our program includes a group life insurance policy in the amount of $1,000 and weekly benefits of $20 or $30, depending on the plan, payable to the employee after a 15 day waiting period.

During the recent 12 month period there were 4 death claims paid and sick benefits in the amount of $8,588 were paid to covered employees.

A Time for Giving

Miss Janet Seoberg, Northern Trust bank teller, presents her first place "special category" winning doll to Linda Snowden, a pediatric patient during the holidays.

Christmas is a time for giving and the generosity of the employees of The Northern Trust Company was felt in the hospital's pediatric department. Some of the bank employees outfitted dolls while others donated toys and stuffed animals.

Employees Receive Generosity Award

Donald M. Graham, 1963 Crusade of Mercy choirman, congratulates three of the hospital's campaign leaders for an outstanding employee drive. Accepting the Employee Generosity Banner on behalf of the employees of Presbyterian-St. Luke's Hospital are (l. to r.) Suson Darpals, personnel, Joyce Staaps, nursing service, and Hellen Ellis, pathology.

Resident Wins Award

Stanley R. Levine, M.D., urology resident, is the recipient of the Traveling Fellowship Award, presented by the North Central Association of the American Urological Association at its annual meeting last fall. Dr. Levine's paper, "Cyst and Tumor occurring in the Same Kidney," won him the award. During 1964, Dr. Levine will visit urologic centers throughout the country and report his experiences at the association's 1964 annual meeting.

Wanted

Be on the lookout for person or persons with that artistic flair, an eye for color and design, or maybe just a rumor of a hidden talent.

Entry blanks are now available in the Public Relations office, Room E, East Pavilion, for the third Presbyterian-St. Luke's Hobby Show to be held March 4-5 in the nurses residence.

EMERGENCY ROOM GETS NEW LOOK

The emergency area was recently completely rejuvenated into one large room with capacity to handle five acutely ill emergency patients at one time. Located on the first floor of the Jones building, the room has five emergency carts separated by curtain dividers. This enables the emergency personnel to move quickly from one patient to the next. Piped-in oxygen and vacuum are present as well as storage space for all necessary emergency equipment.

Physicians whose patients require use of the emergency facilities will find 24-hour staffing by nurses, nurse aides and clinical coordinators, under the direction of Dorothy Hughes, R.N., assistant director, emergency nursing. Coordinators are specially assigned to speed patient registration and communications between emergency service and all personnel and departments in the hospital.

The key professional person in the emergency room is the surgical intern assigned to emergency service. He is on 24-hour duty. He in turn is supported in all cases by an appropriate licensed physician. The resources of the entire institution are made available to patients in the emergency room this way.

Harold A. Paul, M.D., director, emergency service, stated that "With the new facilities, we can now handle more conveniently and efficiently any emergency or emergencies presenting themselves for care."

Robertson Fellows Reunion

Six exchange residents, recipients of the Hugh Robertson Travelling Fellowship award, met in London, England at the London Hilton Hotel, for their first reunion dinner December 30. Edward J. Beattie, Jr., M.D., chairman, division of surgery, was host to the four past London recipients as well as the two recipients now studying at Presbyterian-St. Luke's and the London hospitals.

These exchange fellowship awards, under a reciprocal arrangement with the London Hospital, have been supported for the past five years by Mr. Hugh Robertson, chairman of the board, Zenith Radio Corporation. The research work and papers written by these fellows have been published in leading medical journals.

Emergency Care Available at All Hours For On-The-Job Injuries

When accident or injuries occur they must be reported to the supervisor and treated in Employee Health Service immediately. When Health Service is closed, treatment will be provided in the hospital's Emergency Rooms.

These services are always available and no injury, however slight, should go unreported or untreated.

The Emergency and Examining Rooms have a minimum rate of $6.50 (less a 20% discount to employees) which is charged when employees are seen for illnesses not associated with the job.

There is never an Emergency Room charge to employees for on-the-job accident care or for attention at the request of a departmental supervisor. There is, of course, no charge at any time for Employee Health Service.

IN MEMORIAM

Wilber E. Post, M.D., 86, December 1963. A graduate of Kalamazoo College and the University of Chicago. Dr. Post received his M.D. degree in 1903 from Rush Medical College. He served an internship at Presbyterian Hospital, was appointed to the medical staff in 1906 and served as its president as well as dean of Rush Medical College from 1939-42. Dr. Post was one of the original members of the Central Society of Clinical Research and past president of the Chicago Society of Internal Medicine and the Chicago Institute of Medicine.

February Publication

A textbook, "Basic Biochemistry," will be published next month. Authors of this new, comprehensive introduction to the principles of biochemistry are Max E. Rafelson, Jr., Ph.D., chairman, department of Biochemistry, Presbyterian-St. Luke's Hospital, and Stephen B. Binkley, Ph.D., professor of biological chemistry, University of Illinois College of Medicine.

This 500-page textbook is being published by The MacMillan Company, New York.

Published by the public relations department, Presbyterian-St. Luke's Hospital.

CORRIDOR NEWS

Have you noticed the new uniforms being worn by our food service personnel? The "polka dots" have disappeared and the new look is now white with black trim.

"It's a boy" for Dr. and Mrs. Stanley R. Levine; and baby girls (one each) arrived at the homes of Dr. and Mrs. John M. McLean and Dr. and Mrs. Peter D. Scalzitti.

Leon J. Witkowski, M.D., has been named to the board of trustees of Morgan Park Academy. The field of teaching has always been of prime importance to Dr. Witkowski. Last year the house staff chose him the outstanding teacher in surgery.

Congratulations to Mary Cupp, R.N., assistant director, pediatric nursing, on her recent election as president of the 1st District, Illinois Nurses Association.

Most of us had to be content with watching the bowl games on TV — but not Joyce Stoops, nursing service. She journeyed to Dallas and Fort Worth to attend the Cotton Bowl, returning via Florida.

"The Chaplain Faces: Questions the Doctors Are Asking" will be the panel topic discussed by Norman A. Brady, executive vice president, Rev. Christian Hovde, Ph.D., director, Bishop Anderson Foundation, and Rev. Dr. Paul B. McCleave, director, department of medicine and religion, American Medical Association, at the Assembly of Episcopal Hospitals and Chaplains January 27-30 in St. Louis. Program chairman and vice president of the Assembly is Chaplain William A. Wagner.

January 4 was the big day for Connie Mallick, R.N., OR staff nurse, and Thom Brown, M.D., surgical intern, when they were married in Oglesby, Ill.

Marion Fulrath, personnel, is spending her vacation in Florida, renewing old acquaintances with a girl she has known since her schooldays.

Movie stars aren't the only ones being asked for their autograph. Only last week, James H. Merricks, M.D., was visited by Mrs. Irene Sanders of New York, a former patient of his and the late Drs. Ralph C. Brown and Robert H. Herbst. She was on a 99 day-$99 bus tour around the country and said she wanted to see the hospital again after 25 years. She was so thrilled after Dr. Merricks gave her a cook's tour, that she insisted upon his autographing one of our publications to show to her family and friends.

Congratulations to Joseph A. Davis,

M.D. and Norman A. Brady upon their recent election to president and first vice president, respectively, of the board of trustees of Bishop Anderson Foundation.

Don't miss the January, 1964, issue of The Modern Hospital, which features a story on the course in mother and baby care which is conducted by the medical and nursing staff of the obstetrical department. The course was instituted about seven years ago under Madalyn McMullen, R.N., Isabella Ingram, R.N. and Gladys DeBoer, R.N.

BIG CITY . . . BIG HEARTS

(From Voice of the People, Chicago Tribune, December 30)

I have often wondered what I would do if by some fate I would be alone in a big city like Chicago. I am from a small town.

Events of this past week have made me realize that the folks in Chicago are like those in any small town. My husband and I, with our daughter and her three small children, were passing thru Chicago on our way to the west coast for the holidays. My husband had a heart attack in a taxi. We stopped in front of the Atlantic hotel where the clerk called the fire department. The rescue squad came within a very few minutes.

There four fine young men went to work on my husband and rushed him to Presbyterian-St. Luke's Hospital. The police followed, giving assistance and comfort to me and my daughter and the children. Then the police came back to the hotel to assure my daughter that her father had survived.

The staff at the hospital—nurses, doctors, and nurses' aids—were kind and helpful at the time I needed it the most. Chicago is fortunate in having such a fine police force, rescue squad, hospital, doctors, nurses, and aids. Everyone was wonderful and I am grateful.

All of these folks have hearts as big as the city in which they live.

New Appointment

Voris Fisher has been appointed director of the department of medical illustration and visual aids, effective January 15.

A graduate of the University of Chicago, Mr. Fisher began his business career as an investment banker. He remained in this field for 13 years at which time he became a free-lance photographer. He has done architectural photography, studio illustration, editorial photography (for Life, Fortune and other national magazines), and several slide films in the welfare field. During World War II, he taught courses in photography at the Art Institute of Chicago. Since 1949 he has been associated with the Museum of Science and Industry and also did photographic work for Northwestern University, National Merit Scholarships, the Goodman Theater, and Presbyterian St. Luke's Hospital.

Employees turned artists to put the Jelke building in the holiday spirit.

Santa presented gifts at the Pediatric Christmas party.

Volunteer Christmas "Tiny Tea Party."

Christmas music was heard throughout the hospital. Organist was Ann Huff, hospital volunteer.

Patients' Library Christmas open house.

Santa found plenty of Christmas gifts in his bag for all the employees.

The section of Oncology came out in full voice to entertain with Christmas carols.

Doorprizes for everyone.

Special treat: Santa welcomed Arthur Treacher and his "Camelot" caroleers who sang Christmas music at the employees Christmas party.

Booth Honored

Frederick S. Booth, assistant secretary of the board of trustees was awarded a distinguished service medalion from the members of the board in recognition of outstanding contribution to Presbyterian-St. Luke's Hospital.

In presenting the award, George B. Young, board chairman, cited Mr. Booth for his "devotion to the hospital and his willingness to accept responsibility."

Mr. Booth, who is a vice president of the Northern Trust Company, has served the board of trustees since 1929.

Address Will Not Change

Many are aware that the name of the Congress Expressway has been changed to Eisenhower Expressway. This change will not affect the street on which the hospital is located, and our official address will remain as 1753 W. Congress Parkway.

Take-Home Pay Goes Up As Tax Bite Comes Down

Word from the U. S. Department of Internal Revenue has been anxiously awaited because of the expected reduction in the amount of income tax to be withheld.

The Payroll Department will automatically put the new rates into effect, and pay checks will be larger for most employees as soon as the tax reduction becomes official.

Oral Vaccine Offered Employees Without Charge To Combat Polio

The second stage of a three-part program to provide protection against poliomyelitis is scheduled for Tuesday, March 17, and Wednesday March 25.

On these days Type 3 vaccine will be available to employees through Employee Health Service. A nurse will be on duty from 7:30 a.m. to 4:00 p.m. for the convenience of all shifts.

Type 1 vaccine was offered in February and Type 2 will be offered in April. Employees who participated in last year's program need only the vaccine offered in April.

George Smith (center), professor of surgery, Aberdeen University College of Medicine, Scotland, is shown with Drs. Edward J. Beattie and Egbert H. Fell prior to speaking at Surgical Grand Rounds February 20. His subject "Experiences with Hyperbaric Oxygenation."

Corridor News

Congratulations to Dorothy Primm, food service, who became Mrs. Nathaniel Stewart on February 29.

Judith Dalton, director, occupational therapy, pediatrics, will head the 1964 state recruitment program of the American Occupational Therapy Association.

Nancy Gubisch, M.D., neurology resident, is to be commended on her ingenuity. When nursing service converted to new chart backs (notebook type covers), it was found that the former method of flagging an order was not suitable. A new flip-back marker, designed by Dr. Gubisch, was developed and has proved most efficient as well as economical.

Lynda Haskins, R.N., pediatrics, and John Burnside, University of Illinois medical student, have set March 21 as their wedding day.

Congratulations and welcome: Judy Bastin received her pin and diploma from our School of X-Ray Technology on January 28 and is now a member of the radiology staff.

X-ray seems to be the department in which to work if you're looking for an engagement ring: Mary Rashid, registration desk, received her ring on Valentine's Day, and plans to be married in August; Karen Wilcox, secretary, recording room, is planning a Fall wedding; and Kathleen Nutley, technician, is making plans for 1965.

Ralph Koronkowski, business office, was married January 25; and we hear that his father, Matt, of the mail room, is delighted with his new daughter-in-law.

Did you know that the Tea Room is now open seven days a week until 8:00 p.m. With the addition to the staff of an evening manager, the new hours became effective February 17.

TV star: On Good Friday, March 27, Chaplain William A. Wagner will be seen on the Lee Phillips show at 12:15 p.m., Channel 2. He has been asked to offer a prayer for this special Holy day.

Congratulations to Dorothy Hughes, R.N., assistant director, emergency nursing. February 16 was graduation day at DePaul University where Miss Hughes received her master's degree in nursing service administration.

Those lucky people who can get out of this winter weather to bask in the sun. Norman A. Brady is enjoying delightful weather and just relaxing in sunny Florida; and John H. Olwin, M.D., is now the resident physician for two weeks for the inhabitants of an island off the coast of Florida. Hope there are no emergencies while Dr.

Telephone Costs Rise

How would you like to pay a bill of $15,000 every month?

That is what it costs Presbyterian-St. Luke's Hospital for the monthly telephone service.

A recent analysis of our telephone traffic reveals an increasing use of the telephone for personal calls. This is not only a great expense to the hospital but also ties up lines vitally needed for important calls between patient areas and service areas such as the blood bank, laboratories, pharmacy.

Public telephones are located throughout the hospital. Won't you help us decrease the amount of this bill?

Graduates Pass National Exam

The ten 1962-63 graduates of Presbyterian-St. Luke's Hospital's school of medical technology have passed the national certification examination, it was announced (recently) by Dr. John P. Ayer, director of the school.

This year 70% of the class remained with the hospital. They are Vida Keb-linskas, biochemistry; Jeanne Ball, bacteriology; Betty Sutton, pathology research under Dr. Ayer; Henry Irace, virology; Sheryl Taylor, bacteriology; Lorraine Peareschi, special hematology under Dr. Earl Anderson; and Carol Whited, special hematology under Dr. Jerry Lewis.

In Memoriam

Theodore L. Hansen, M.D., 70, January 18, 1964. A graduate of Northwestern University Medical School in 1916, Dr. Hansen served an internship at St. Luke's Hospital and was appointed to the medical staff in 1919. He held the rank of attending surgeon until the physical merger in 1959 at which time he was elevated to emeritus status. He was chief surgeon for the Chicago Rock Island & Pacific Railroad Company for many years. His memberships included: fellow, American College of Surgeons and American Medical Association; member, Institute of Traumatic Surgery; National Malaria Committee; American Association for the Surgery of Trauma; Association of American Railroads; and past treasurer, American Association of Railway Surgeons.

Olwin is out deep-sea fishing.

Don't miss the February issue of "Resident Physician" which features a story on the Art Cart—a service begun last Fall by the Woman's Board.

New Appointment

Norman A. Brady, executive vice-president, has announced the appointment of Preston W. Doyle as training director, effective February 1.

Mr. Doyle earned his Master's Degree at the University of Richmond and has earned credits toward his doctorate at the University of North Carolina and Syracuse University. He has been in the field of education and training for the past eight years, most recently at Shorter College in Georgia, and has been serving as a management consultant to business and civic enterprises. He received special commendation for work with the Celanese Corporation in Rome, Georgia.

Mr. Doyle served with the U.S. Air Force for four years. His work as an administrative supervisor was primarily in the field of personnel and morale. He spent a considerable time in Alaska but was fortunate in having his assignment carry him to Air Force bases throughout the world.

As training director at Presbyterian-St. Luke's Hospital, Mr. Doyle will work with department heads and supervisors in developing teaching methods as well as presenting classes in fundamental aspects of employee training.

Nursing Service Learns Cardiac Chest Massage

H. A. Poul, M.D., director, emergency service, is demonstrating closed cardiac chest massage to on inservice seminar, a regular educational feature of the emergency room program.

On February 5, a celebrity was a guest of the emergency service . . . "Resusi-Ann" was sent from the Chicago Heart Association. She is a realistically constructed mannequin resembling a drowning victim. She has been utilized internationally as a means of practical training in modern resuscitation methods, namely closed chest cardiac massage and mouth to mouth ventilation.

An artificial "heart" beneath the chest wall is connected to a blood pressure apparatus. It is possible to prove to the trainee that his cardiac massage is effective.

During Resusi-Ann's visit, every member of the emergency service team was given an opportunity to prove himself in resuscitative methods. This included doctors, nurses and aides.

First to Reach 3000 Hours

Mrs. Howard Edson receives congratulations from John P. Bent, hospital president, upon reaching 3,000 hours of service. Mrs. Edson serves in the gift shop two days a week. Looking on are (l. to r.) Mrs. Albert B. Dick, chairman, gift shop committee of the women's board; Mrs. Pot Lee and Miss Lyla Woodruff, co-managers of the gift shop.

Over 50 Club

Plan for retirement for creative use of leisure! There are many unlimited opportunities to make your retirement eventful and exciting, even brighten today's leisure hours. Travel, interesting hobbies, unusual experiences, all are open to you if you plan for them now.

The "Over 50 Club" is designed to acquaint you with these areas of creative living with which you can relate your interests and skills. Advanced planning can bear fruit in a satisfactory income, good health, wholesome recreation, and many useful pursuits. Join us on Monday, March 23, at 7:00 p.m. as we explore avenues of mutual interest. Call Preston Doyle, training director, ext. 2216, and make plans to become a part of this hospital group.

Social Security

The Social Security office suggests that everyone periodically inquire about the status of their Social Security account.

The Personnel Department has cards for this purpose and will furnish them on request to anyone seeking information from the Government on the record of reported earnings.

Future Pastors Receive Hospital Training

Dr. A. William Holmes speaks to the students at one of the weekly seminars.

A teaching hospital trains doctors, nurses and technologists. Presbyterian-St. Luke's Hospital has been educating young men and women in these fields for many years. But a relatively new program, now in its third year, is introducing seminary students to a hospital environment. This nine-month course is conducted by Chaplains Herbert N. Brockway and William A. Wagner.

The purpose of this program is to enable future pastors to better relate to persons under stress. The program involves weekly seminars led by the chaplains and often features members of the attending staff, house staff and administration. Students spend six hours a week where, under supervision, they meet with patients at the bedside. This helps them overcome the natural strangeness which often arises in such relationships and cultivates the capacity to stand by as supporting friends during the stress of illness.

A valuable aspect of the program is the students' relationship with the doctors, nurses and other hospital personnel enabling them to see where the pastor and the medical specialists may work most effectively together for the benefit of the patient. And the students gain greater self-understanding as they study the spiritual and emotional dynamics of personality in a supervised clinical setting.

Those Who Teach

An eight-week course of instruction designed to improve teaching methods and techniques is being offered by the personnel department, under the direction of Preston Doyle, training director.

Classes will be held each Tuesday at 3:30 p.m. in the service building, beginning March 17.

1964 Volunteer Of the Year

Mrs. Mathilde Velthuys, who has served the hospital for over five years, has been named the Volunteer of the Year for 1964.

Volunteering three days a week, she works one day as a nurse assistant on 11 East Pavilion. Her duties are many and varied: feeding patients, delivering mail, making beds, shopping for patients, caring for patients' flowers, visiting patients, charting temperatures, weights and blood pressures, and assisting with admission, transfer and discharge procedures.

Mrs. Velthuys welcomes official visitors to the OR galleries.

"Mrs. Velthuys is always cheerful, willing to perform any task that will bring joy and comfort to the patient," said a LPN on 11 East. "As an aide, I find Mrs. Velthuys is more than a helping hand . . . she is a very understanding person, kind to the patients and personnel." One of the R.N.s said "Mrs. Velthuys does excellent work. She is a very quiet little woman who is always 'busy as a bee'."

The other two days Mrs. Velthuys is the monitor in the OR galleries. She greets official visitors, prevents unauthorized persons from entering, sees that rules and regulations for the gallery are followed . . . and during quiet moments prepares special supplies for the operating rooms.

"She fills a real need here," agreed Edward J. Beattie, Jr., M.D., chairman, division of surgery, and Ruth Schmidt, R.N., assistant director, OR nursing. "Her quiet, courteous, dignified and tactful way of approaching people when in doubt as to their authorization for being in this restricted area has been most appreciated. We are privileged to have Mrs. Velthuys and might say we wish she were twins."

Blue Cross-Blue Shield Offers Re-Enrollment Period in March

A once-a-year opportunity is offered during March to make changes in your group coverage under our Blue Cross and Blue Shield plans.

If you have the "Single Plan" you can convert to "Family Plan" by adding your spouse and any children under 19 years of age.

If you are married and have not secured family coverage, which includes maternity benefits, this is the time to do it.

If you have previously been covered in some other plan and now want to join ours, you may enroll during March.

If you are carrying only Blue Cross coverage you may add Blue Shield at a cost of 84c per month for the individual or $2.56 for the family plan to provide payments for doctor bills.

Further information and enrollment forms are available in the Personnel Department.

Chaplain Elected President

William A. Wagner, hospital chaplain, was recently elected president of the Assembly of Episcopal Hospitals and Chaplains of the American Protestant Hospital Association at the association's annual convention held in St. Louis.

Chaplain Wagner formerly served as vice president and program chairman of the assembly. Church-related hospitals and chaplaincies from all parts of the United States are members of the assembly whose purpose is to promote the efficiency of hospital chaplaincy programs.

Winners of the Volunteer service awards, sponsored by the State Street Council and Volunteer Bureau of the Welfare Council of Metropolitan Chicago, will be announced in May.

Professional building looking east from Kidston playground. The parking facility will be located immediately east of the building with access on south Paulina street. Hammond and Roesch are the architects.

Break Ground for Professional Building

Presbyterian-St. Luke's Professional Building Corporation broke ground March 6 for a new $2,600,000 office building and garage. The five-story building, to contain offices for some 125 doctors, will be located at 1725 West Harrison Street. It will be connected to the main buildings of Presbyterian-St. Luke's Hospital by a tunnel running beneath Harrison Street. It is anticipated that the building will be completed by June, 1965. Information regarding rentals and rental procedures have been distributed to members of the medical staff and applications will be accepted after April 15.

Charles H. Morse, president of the building corporation, said "This building will bring important advantages, the result of which will be improved patient care. By being headquartered near the hospital, doctors will conserve valuable time which may be devoted to their patients in the hospital as well as teaching and research. Also the many facilities of the hospital will be readily available to the doctors and their out-patients."

The adjacent parking facility, to be completed by next September, will provide space for 142 cars and offer both self and attendant parking.

Other officers of the building corporation include Norman A. Brady, vice president, Anthony L. Michel, secretary and John R. Walsh, treasurer.

Alumni Foundation Elects New Officers

At the third annual meeting of the Presbyterian-St. Luke's Hospital Alumni Foundation, held March 18 in the A. B. Dick Lecture Room, the following officers were elected for 1964: R. Gordon Brown, M.D., president; Philip N. Jones, M.D., vice president; Peter J. Farago, M.D., secretary; Malachi J. Flanagan, M.D., treasurer; and Rigby C. Roskelley, member of the advisory council. In addition, Robert W. Jamieson, M.D. was named chairman of the membership committee.

Membership in the foundation includes members of the attending staff, residents, and alumni. It represents 34 states and three foreign countries. The foundation was organized to maintain contact and communication between present and former house staff and attending staff members, to maintain and perpetuate the house staff loan fund, to establish and maintain the publication of a quarterly research and news bulletin, and to assist the hospital in the procurement of highly qualified house staff members.

Hobby Show A Huge Success

Presbyterian-St. Luke's Hospital held its third Hobby Show March 4-5 with more than 95 members of the hospital family exhibiting creative work and collections.

Exhibitors included hospital employees, members of the medical staff, woman's board, volunteers, and one patient entry. More than 2,000 visitors viewed the exhibits which were on display in the new Jelke-South Center lobby.

Judges for the show were Mrs. Robert Hixon Glore, woman's board; William E. Hartmann, Skidmore, Owings and Merrill; and Frederick A. Sweet, curator of American painting and sculptor, Art Institute of Chicago. Ribbons were awarded in each of the seven categories: collections, crafts, painting, photography, potpourri, sculpture and textile arts.

Dr. Holinger Receives Honorary Membership In South America

Paul H. Hollinger, M.D., was made an honorary member of the Columbian Society of Otolaryngology and Bronchoesophagology at a recent meeting of the Pan American Association of Bronchoesophagology and Otolaryngology held in Bogota, Colombia. During this five-day meeting, Dr. Holinger presented three papers: Cancer of the Larynx; Papilloma of the Larynx; and Anesthesiology in Bronchoesophagology.

Nursing Appointment

Jeanette Polson, R.N. has been appointed assistant director, out-patient nursing.

A graduate of St. Luke's School of Nursing, Miss Polson did private duty nursing at St. Luke's for a year at which time she joined UNRRA during World War II and spent two years in Egypt serving at a camp hospital for Yugoslavian refugees. She returned to St. Luke's in 1946 and also attended the University of Chicago where she received a bachelor's degree in public health nursing.

Miss Polson was with the Visiting Nurses Association in New Haven from 1948-51; with Presbyterian Hospital for a year in the emergency room; and two years with Argonne Cancer Research Hospital while working on her masters' degree. The past eight years she was supervisor of the Visiting Nurses Association of Chicago.

An Institution of Love and Service

Never was greater love and unselfish service rendered than was recently in your hospital on 5 East Pavilion.

It seemed to us, her family, that all the activities of the entire hospital revolved around room 507 for a few days.

Doctors and nurses and technicians seemed to flock to that place, not for reasons of curiosity but to see what they could do to help. I was told that if the prayers of 400 staff members could make a difference and keep her living, she would surely recover.

The family of Phyllis Lambert Clayton desire to thank all the members of the Presbyterian-St. Luke's Hospital staff for their untiring efforts in her behalf.

*Albert G. Clayton
(Mrs. Clayton was Dr. Claude Lambert's sister)*

Stock Market Club

Would you like to learn about the stock market, or expand your present knowledge of it? Would you like to join a group to discuss the market and perhaps purchase stocks?

The formation of an investment club, open to members of the hospital family, is being organized with the first meeting to be held sometime in April. If you are interested in joining and wish more information, contact David Stevenson, business office, ext. 2725.

In Memoriam

John B. Drake, 92, March 17, 1964. A member of the board of trustees since 1907. Mr. Drake was a graduate of Phillips Academy and during his career was associated with Hughes Oil Company. He was a life member of the Chicago Natural History Museum, the Art Institute of Chicago, and the Chicago Historical Society. Mr. Drake and his brother were the original owners of the Drake Hotel.

Daniel B. Hayden, M.D., 84, March 14, 1964. Dr. Hayden received A.B. and A.M. degrees from St. Viators College in 1900, an M.D. degree from Georgetown Medical School in 1904, and did post-graduate training in Vienna in 1907 and 08. He was appointed to the Presbyterian medical staff in 1916, was on the consulting staff from 1947 to 1962 at which time he was elevated to emeritus status. Dr. Hayden served as chairman of the department of otolaryngology from 1935-1945. He was the author or co-author of scientific papers pertaining to deafness and the inner ear.

Edward John Burnell, 51, March 21, 1964. Mr. Burnell, a member of the board of trustees since 1960, was senior vice president and director of Booz, Allen & Hamilton, Inc., management consultants. He received an A.B. degree in 1933 at Amherst College and was active in the Amherst Alumni Club of Chicago. He was vice president of the Association of Management Consulting Engineers and a member of the Economic Club of Chicago.

Corridor News

Congratulations to Dr. and Mrs. Victor Tsloff, radiology resident, upon the arrival of their son, Adam.

Bobbie Hockmuth, TTS, is the envy of many. She recently joined Anna Coyle, a former employee, for five weeks of sightseeing in Europe.

Wayne Swenson, M.D., surgical resident, will be missed for three months while he is at Boston Children's Hospital working under Dr. William Green, chairman of orthopaedics.

Peggy Lusk, school of nursing counselor, attended the National Association of Deans and Counselors convention in Portland, Oregon, where she participated in a panel discussion "Trends in Student Values and Decisions."

Don't be surprised if you see Ruth Schmidt, R.N., wearing leis over her surgical garb. She just returned from two fabulous weeks in Hawaii followed by a stop in sunny California.

Ruth Schmidt

The Hobby Show committee is proud of the fact that perhaps it can take some of the credit for Florence Goodman Miller's success. She sold three paintings which were on exhibit at the Hobby Show. Obviously it pays to be an exhibitor.

Congratulations to Thomas L. Ashcraft, M.D., upon his recent election to the presidency of the Chicago Society of Anesthesiologists.

March 26 was a big day for Michael Slottow, age 11. That's the day he and his father, Richard S. Slottow, left for ten days of skiing in Aspen.

Aspen seems to be a popular place. Drs. Marvin Trepton and Robert Hart, radiology residents, just returned after schussing down the many wonderful ski runs.

Philip N. Jones, M.D. is going a bit farther north for his skiing . . . Big Mountain in the wilds of Montana. Latest report is 110" of snow!

If Drs. Richard E. Buenger and Frank L. Hussey, Jr., radiologists, look a bit heavier, it's because they have just returned from sampling the wonderful cuisine offered in New Orleans.

Drs. Hussey and Franklin S. Alcorn are the proud recipients of the first place award for their Lymphangiography exhibit at the Chicago Medical Society meeting held March 2-5 in Chicago.

Hyperbaric Chamber To Be Installed This Month

Presbyterian-St. Luke's Hospital will receive delivery of a hyperbaric chamber this month. The new chamber, to be used for research under the supervision of the division of surgery, will be located adjacent to and directly south of the service building. A small building will be constructed to house the 10 foot by 28 foot chamber.

Fabrication of the chamber was done by Chicago Bridge and Iron Company. It was transferred to a warehouse where Borg-Warner Corporation is now fitting internal mechanisms such as pressure controls, valves to feed oxygen and other gases, air conditioning, communication systems, electricity, safety devices, and humidifiers.

Hyperbaric oxygenation is a method of oxygen therapy. While those working in the chamber breathe ordinary air, the patient is breathing oxygen under pressure which increases all tissues with available oxygen. Normally, oxygen is carried through the body by the red cells. With hyperbaric oxygenation, additional oxygen can be carried by body fluids, plasma, lymph and tissue fluids.

Researchers have shown that hyperbaric oxygenation has been beneficial not only in maintaining the circulation after trauma, but also in other conditions such as carbon monoxide poisoning, gas gangrene, asphyxia, cardiac defects in infants undergoing corrective surgery, and malignant disease where oxygen therapy appears to heighten the effect of therapeutic radiation. Results of the research work at Presbyterian-St. Luke's Hospital will be evaluated to determine the future use of the hyperbaric chamber for patients deprived temporarily and chronically of adequate blood, whether it be to the heart, brain, or extremities.

Award Winning Nurse

A $25 cash award was recently awarded Barbara Zolna, R.N., head nurse, intensive therapy, for recruiting a nurse for Presbyterian-St. Luke's Hospital. The award was presented 90 days after Laurie Rea, R.N. joined the nursing staff.

A similar award will be given to Georgia Oyama, R.N., pediatrics, who introduced Mari Ann Tani, R.N. to the hospital. Miss Tani is working on a surgical floor.

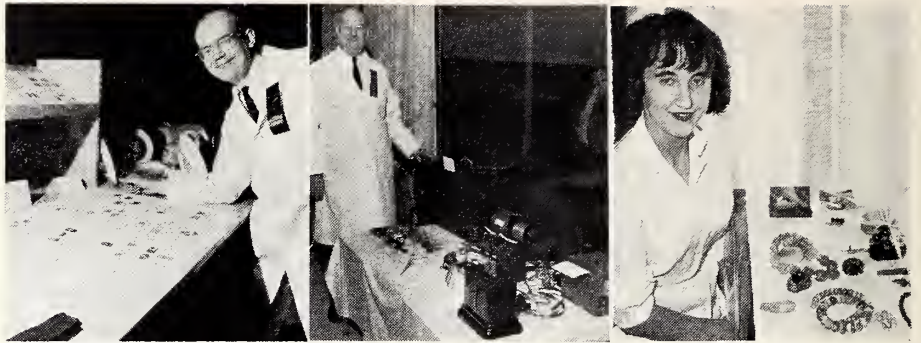

These are the two latest recipients of similar awards that have been given to many employees in the last two years. The offer is open to all employees introducing registered nurses to nursing service who indicate at the time of employment that they are sponsoring the new employee.

Collections: First place to Howard G. Wilcox, M.D., medical stamps; Second place, Russell C. Honselman, M.D., early radios; and honorable mention, Ann Suloitus, T.T.S., Amber jewelry.

Willis G. Diffenbough, M.D., received second place award for his photography exhibit.

Howard H. Sky-Peck, Ph.D. proudly displays his first place ribbon for painting.

Honorable mention ribbons for painting were awarded to Koren Berry (top) and Rito Hirsh, hematology.

Winner in Crofts: Pearl Ecklund, admittig, for her miniature gardens.

Dr. Samuel G. Taylor's bonsoi trees won him the potpourri ribbon.

Four award ribbons were given in textile arts: first place (not shown), Mrs. John R. Effinger, woman's board; (l. to r.): second place, Atheno Squier, patients' library; and honorable mention ribbons to Doisy Donley and Doisy Lee Taylor, nursing service.

Appoint Health Center Director

Mr. Kramer

The appointment of Nathan Kramer as director of the Presbyterian-St. Luke's Health Center was recently announced by Norman A. Brady, executive vice president. His appointment was effective April 1.

Mr. Kramer holds a B.S. degree from City College of New York. He has taken graduate courses in public health administration and medical care at Yale University School of Public Health and American University. He most recently served as research associate at the University of Pittsburgh. He was previously administrator of the Miners Clinics, Inc., a non-profit corporation operating group medical practice facilities in New Kensington, Pennsylvania. Mr. Kramer has also served as research associate for the subcommittee on medical care, American Public Health Association. He is a fellow, American Public Health Association and a member, Group Health Association of America.

The Health Center, comprising clinics ranging from allergy to urology, last year served some 75,000 patient visits. The out-patient clinics, founded in 1839, now provide for partial and full-pay medical care. Facilities for the teaching of interns and residents of Presbyterian-St. Luke's Hospital, and medical students from the University of Illinois College of Medicine are provided through the Health Center.

Hospital Investment Club

The Stock Market Investment Club held its second meeting May 5. Guest speaker was Philip R. Clarke, member of the board of trustees and prominent banker and civic leader, who spoke on "Business Experiences."

Mr. Clark

At the April meeting the following officers were elected: David Stevenson, business office, president; Preston Doyle, personnel, vice president; Joan Cerny, data processing, secretary; and Richard Figurski, business office, treasurer.

Mr. Stevenson presided at the meeting and explained the purpose of the club. In the near future, members will select a stock for purchase.

Anyone interested in joining the club, either as a participant or as an observer, may contact Mr. Stevenson, ext. 2721.

Alumni Homecoming

The Alumni Association of Presbyterian-St. Luke's Hospital School of Nursing held its annual homecoming on April 16. Guests toured the new hospital facilities, followed by a tea held in the nurses' residence. In the evening a banquet was held in Chicago for more than 100 alumni.

Honored guests included a member of the class of 1910, three members celebrating their fiftieth anniversary, and members of the class of 1939 and 1944. Guests of honor were the 1961 graduating seniors.

Hospital Honors Its Volunteers

In observance of National Hospital Week, Presbyterian-St. Luke's designated May 12 as Volunteer Day . . . a day to honor its many loyal volunteers who have given so unselfishly of themselves to help others.

On that day, a special program and reception was held in the nurses' residence. John P. Bent, hospital president, presented awards to those volunteers who had reached their anniversary for five through twenty-five years of service. Others participating in the program were Norman A. Brady, executive vice president, Mrs. George S. Chappell, Jr., president of the woman's board, and Richard B. Capps, M.D., president of the medical staff.

A special feature of the program was a skit entitled "The Crank" which was written and presented by the Volunteer Players.

Trustee Guest of "39ers"

Mr. Glore

Robert Hixon Glore, member of the board of trustees, and partner, Glore Forgan & Company, was guest speaker at the April meeting of the "39ers Club." He spoke on planning a long-term financial program, and answered questions regarding stocks and bonds, insurance, and annuities—all important considerations to a successful retirement.

This was the second meeting of the "39ers Club," a newly formed organization for hospital employees wishing to plan ahead for their retirement.

86 Honored For Service

Presbyterian-St. Luke's Hospital honored 86 employees for years of service at the annual Founders Day reception April 30. Employees were honored for 10, 15, 20, 25, 30, 35, 40, and 45 years of service to the hospital.

U. S. Savings Bonds were presented the employees by George B. Young, chairman, board of trustees. Other program participants were John E. Milton, associate director; Richard S. Slotow, vice president; John E. King, director of personnel relations; and Chaplain Herbert N. Brockway who gave the invocation.

Following the presentation of awards, Mr. Milton presented the ten finalists selected for Presbyterian-St. Luke's Employee-of-the-Year for 1964:

Stewart Burks, Pharmacy
Hellen Ellis, Pathology
Albina Gherardi, Microbiology
Ernavie Grilli, Transfusion Therapy Service
Lela Henke, Surgical Nursing
Beulah Hunter, Surgical Nursing
Victoria Jirsa, Blood Bank
Joseph Moreno, Central Kitchen
Ramon Rodriguez, Biochemistry
Ernestine Smith, Food Service

1964 Employee-of-the-Year

Miss Gherardi

Not only was she honored for 20 years of service to the hospital, but Miss Albina Gherardi was also named the 1964 Presbyterian-St. Luke's Employee-of-the-Year at the Founders Day reception April 30.

As chief parasitologist of the department of microbiology for the past twelve years, it is not unusual for her to work a 12-hour day. Saturdays she comes to the hospital to make sure that reports reach doctors on their Friday admissions; and Sundays she may come in "just to get ready for Monday."

Miss Gherardi is responsible for diagnostic parasitology tests performed on both in- and out-patients. This amounted to 4,394 tests last year.

She is extremely proficient and her work has been well recognized. Last year she diagnosed a case of amebic disease previously unreported in this country. To evaluate the possibility of using marmosets for cancer research, she worked up the entire parasitology protocol on these small monkeys. She discovered a new species of parasites in the marmoset. This work is now being continued at the London Natural History Museum in England. A report on her work may be included in a paper to be presented at the First International Congress on Parasitology in Rome.

Miss Gherardi is the type of employee desired in hospital careers today. Her attributes will continue to benefit not only this hospital and the many people it serves, but the entire field it represents.

Doctors in the News

Fay H. Squire, M.D., chairman, division of radiology and nuclear medicine, was the guest lecturer at the first annual award lecture of The Beaver Medical Clinic Foundation, California, in February. He spoke on "The Radiological Approach to Hypertension."

Each year, the Chicago Surgical Society presents a $500 award for the outstanding original paper done in the Chicago area by a resident or a fellow. On May 1, Roger L. Mehl, M.D. presented a paper on "Successful Treatment of Acidosis and 'Toxemia' following Replantation of an Extremity Severed for Prolonged Periods" at which time he received the 1964 Chicago Surgical Society Award.

Drs. Frank E. Trobaugh, Jr. and Jerry P. Lewis were recently invited to become members of the newly formed Society of Cryobiology. In September, Dr. Lewis will attend the Stockholm Congress of the International Society of Hematology under a travel grant from the National Science Foundation.

"Radioactive Iodine — A Further Look At its Use in Treatment of Hyperthyroidism" was the title of the paper presented by Richard Phillips, M.D., radiology resident, at the Chicago Roentgen Society meeting April 9. For this work, Dr. Phillips received the Society's second Annual Resident Essay Contest award of $75.

Maynard M. Cohen, chairman, department of neurology, has been chosen the recipient of the Wayne State University School of Medicine's "Distinguished Service Citation," the highest award given to alumni by the school. The award, given for his distinguished professional contributions, will be presented to Dr. Cohen June 18.

24 Honored At Trustee-Staff Dinner

At the annual Trustee-Staff dinner, held April 14, a member of the board of trustees and 25 members of the medical staff were honored for years of service to the hospital.

Corridor News

April 27 was the big day for Janette Bartels, R.T., radiology, when she and her husband moved into their new bi-level home in Lisle.

Our best wishes to Nancy Wroblewski, x-ray technician, on her marriage May 16 to Richard Glyzowski.

May 30 is the day Greta Simpson, staff nurse, emergency room, becomes Mrs. Robert McKeough.

The biochemistry staff were so excited over one of their employees, Raymond Rodriguez, being named one of the ten finalists for Employee-of-the-Year that they promptly threw a party for him.

We were pleased to hear some news of Dr. Samuel Thomas, former member of the pediatric staff who lost his eyesight. He was honored May 5 at the Hadley School for the Blind's annual dinner as the "student of the year."

Carol Borson, volunteer office, has been elected secretary of the Luther College Alumni Club of Chicago. The campus is located in Decorah, Iowa.

Alma Pratt, dietary worker, central kitchen, was married April 18 to Norman Galloway.

Presbyterian-St. Luke's was well represented at the recent Medical Center Art Fair at the Illini Union. Karen Berry, hematology, and Florence Goodman Miller, department of medicine, were among the exhibitors.

May is an important month for Tony Camparone, food service. He has been asked to do the hair styling for the cast of Oklahoma which will be presented at the Encore Theatre on Chicago's near north side.

Jane Wheeler Warren, director of volunteers, will be the guest speaker at the Fourth Presbyterian Church's Thanksgiving Tea, the proceeds going for free care for children at the hospital.

The Rev. Richard Young, former director of Bishop Anderson Foundation, has a new, but temporary address. On April 4 he was seriously injured in an automobile accident and has been a patient in the Livingston General Hospital, Northern Rhodesia, ever since. He has been making a study of mission schools in Africa and was returning from a meeting with the Bishop of Matabeleland, Southern Rhodesia, when the accident occurred. Last word was that he is resting comfortably and hopes to be out of the hospital sometime in May.

Two suburban school boards have been fortunate recently in acquiring outstanding physicians to serve on their boards. Maurice L. Bogdonoff, M.D., was elected to the school board of Wheaton, and Philip N. Jones, M.D., was elected president of the Kenilworth school board.

And the village of Northfield is now in capable hands with the addition of Norman A. Brady who was recently named village treasurer.

Chaplain Herbert N. Brockway participated in a panel at the Diabetic Institute on April 19 where several clergymen discussed the resources of religion for long term illness. Representatives of different faiths were asked to outline the resources of their particular approach to religion as it might apply to the needs of patients suffering illness or handicap.

We learned that a write-in vote isn't too wise if you want your vote to count. Jane Warren tried it and caused quite a commotion. The machine jammed, a member of the election board had to be called, and the result was her vote was not valid.

Helen Hansen, x-ray technician, certainly gives her all to achieve a sun tan. In April she spent two wonderful weeks in Nassau, only to return and take another week to recover from a severe sunburn. But last week there she was, at North Avenue beach, basking in the sun.

Do you find it hard to take off that extra five pounds? Well, how about trying for forty pounds! That's what Conchita Goldberg, supervisor, radiology registration desk, did. And for this achievement, she was a regional winner in TOPS (Take Off Pounds Sensibly) and received her award at the Chicago TOPS convention held in April.

Many familiar faces were seen May 3 and 6 at Comisky Park. Invitations from the Chicago White Sox, saluting the Chicago Hospital Council on the occasion of Hospital Week, were extended to hospital employees.

Virginia Schuler, R.N., was the principle speaker at a three-day workshop held May 11-13 at the University of Iowa. The subject was Nursing Care of the Acutely Ill Patient.

Have you noticed the new art gallery in the radiology corridor? That was the ingenious idea of the art cart committee to cover the large holes in the walls. The openings were made to aid contractors in assessing the cost of remodeling the radiology department.

"It's a boy" for Dr. and Mrs. James Sandrolini, Dr. and Mrs. James Clark, Dr. and Mrs. James Lowe, and Dr. and Mrs. Edward McGinnis; and daughters arrived at the homes of Dr. and Mrs. Fred Gawecki, Dr. and Mrs. John Hopper, Dr. and Mrs. Thomas O. Brackett, and Dr. and Mrs. Walter Lawrence.

Any day, we'll be seeing new playground equipment outside Kidston

House. The hospital's cost for this equipment has been decreased by the addition of funds from the House Staff Wives' successful bake sale.

Attention—members of the attending and house staffs: Better start practicing up on your golf and the latest dance steps so you'll be ready for the House Staff Outing to be held June 21 at Old Orchard Country Club.

The hospital chaplains were host to 15 chaplains from Chicago area hospitals at a luncheon meeting held at the hospital April 29. Chaplain William Anderson of Augustana Lutheran Hospital read a paper on "Concept of Grace As Observed in Pastoral Relationship." Chaplain Herbert N. Brockway was arrangements chairman. This group of Chicago area hospital chaplains recently formed to enable them to share their mutual concerns and experiences in the chaplaincy field.

"Patient Reaction to Hospitals" is the topic assigned Chaplain William A. Wagner when he addresses the May meeting of the Nursing Service Administrators Section of the Illinois Nurses Association.

300 Blue Cross-Blue Shield employees had the pleasure of hearing our student nurses chorus May 11. The students were guests at the Blue Cross-Blue Shield service recognition dinner held in the Guildhall of the Ambassador Hotel.

Psychiatry Attendant A Hero

Norman A. Brady, executive vice president, offers his congratulations and thanks to Madison Davis for his work as a "fire-fighter."

Last month a spontaneous combustion fire started in the janitor's closet of the 12th floor, East Pavilion. Due to quick action on the part of Madison Davis, an attendant in Psychiatry since 1959, the fire was extinguished before the fire department arrived and before extensive damage occurred.

Technologists Man Health Fair Booth

Four registered medical technologists and nine students of the school of medical technology participated in the fifth Chicagoland Health Fair which was held April 23 through May 3 at the Museum of Science and Industry. Our technologists and students performed a screening method for blood types in ABO grouping at the Chicago Society of Medical Technologists' exhibition booth.

Those volunteering their time were Oksana Illuk, Marilyn Svenson, Janet Clark, Judith Chilewski, Astrida Dreyer, Vida Kanisaukas, Carol Kiraly, Jean Heitmann, and Wanda Bailey of the school; and technologists Gay Birchard, Betty Sutton, Paul Fu, and Sue Proud.

Clarence W. Manroe, M.D. renews acquaintances with our Korean nurses: Mrs. Kil Ja Rheu (center) and Mrs. Bang Ja Kim. Dr. Manroe was in Korea last fall for three months where he set up a plastic surgery unit at the Presbyterian Mission Hospital.

Exchange Nurses From Korea

Two Korean nurses have recently joined the nursing staff at Presbyterian-St. Luke's Hospital. They are here on a two-year exchange program sponsored by the American Nurses Association.

Graduates of the Presbyterian Mission Hospital, Teagu, Korea, Mrs. Kil Ja Rheu served as head nurse, pediatric out-patient department of Presbyterian Hospital. Mrs. Bon Ja Kim was staff supervisor for the Korean Nurses Association in Seoul.

While at Presbyterian-St. Luke's Hospital, they will study nursing techniques as practiced in the United States and implement these nursing procedures upon their return to Korea.

The Bombers Are Leading

As the 1964 bowling season draws to a close, the Bombers lead by six games the other Presbyterian-St. Luke's bowling teams. The Bombers include Sally Ballenger, nursing; Reuben Navarro, purchasing; Peggy Primm, accounting, and Dave Stevenson, business office.

At the April bowling session, the following officers were elected for the 1964-65 season starting in September: president: Dave Stevenson, business office; vice president: Sally Ballenger, nursing; secretary: Pat Soltis, hematology; and treasurer: Peggy Primm, accounting.

The bowling team banquet is scheduled for June 6 at Nelson's restaurant.

At the annual meeting of the medical staff on May 18, Stanton A. Friedberg, M.D., was elected president of the Presbyterian-St. Luke's Hospital medical staff.

Dr. Friedberg, attending otolaryngologist, is chairman of the hospital's department of otolaryngology and bronchoesophagology, and clinical professor of otolaryngology at the University of Illinois College of Medicine.

Ormand C. Julian, M.D., attending cardio-vascular surgeon, and professor of surgery at the University of Illinois College of Medicine, was elected vice president; John S. Garvin, attending neuropsychiatrist, director of the electroencephalography laboratory, and professor of neurology at the University of Illinois College of Medicine, was elected to a second term as secretary; and Maurice L. Bogdonoff, M.D., associate attending radiologist, and assistant professor of radiology at the University of Illinois College of Medicine, was re-elected treasurer.

Dr. Lashof Receives Special Fellowship

Joyce C. Lashof, M.D., director, section of preventive medicine, has been granted a U. S. Public Health Service special fellowship in the field of epidemiology (the frequency-cause factors influencing the incidence of various diseases) in Oxford, England. Dr. Lashof will study with Dr. Alice Stewart, noted epidemiologist in leukemia of children, in the department of social medicine, Oxford University. This award, for the academic year beginning in September, was granted by the National Institute of General Medical Sciences of the National Institutes of Health.

Mr. Hart Joins Hospital Board

Mr. Hart

Augustin S. Hart, Jr., vice-president-International, The Quaker Oats Company, was named a member of the board of trustees of Presbyterian-St. Luke's Hospital at the May meeting. Mr. Hart is a member of the board of directors of the Lyric Opera of Chicago; trustee, Lake Forest College; director, Union Theological Seminary; member of the Council on Foreign Relations; and former member of the Associates of Presbyterian-St. Luke's Hospital.

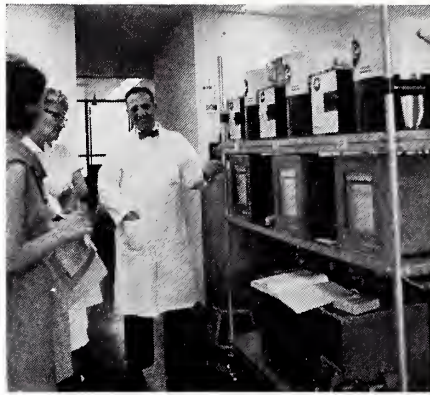

An employee of the Hartford Plaza Bank, Wacker Drive, Chicago, stops in the bank lobby to view a pictorial display on Presbyterian-St. Luke's Hospital and its departmental activities. This display was on view at the bank during the month of May following a three-month showing at the Museum of Science and Industry.

Hematology Hosts Open House

Mory Ann Cardella, ASCP, clinical hematology, assists Frank E. Trabaugh, M.D., director, section of hematology, in demonstrating the multi-channel analyzer used in the study of the production and destruction of red blood cells. Participating the patient is Yvonne Sniechawsky, hematology secretary.

Arthur Cante, MT, hematology research, exploits the slow freeze apparatus which is being used in the study of bone marrow cells.

As the first of a series of Open Houses designed to acquaint the employees of Presbyterian-St. Luke's Hospital with the many varied operations within the hospital, the section of hematology was host to more than 45 departments on June 18. Demonstrations set up in the special hematology laboratories included: bone marrow research, serum electrophoresis, hemolytic studies, mouse myeloma study, biostatistics and experimental design, radio-hematology, and the school of medical technology.

The second open house is scheduled for August 19 in the in-service education department.

Member of President's Conference

James A. Campbell, M.D., chairman, division of medicine, participated in the ninth biennial President's Conference on Occupational Safety held June 23-25 in Washington. President Lyndon B. Johnson opened the program which brought together volunteer leaders representing business, labor, medicine, government and other fields.

The theme of the conference was "Mobilizing Leadership for a Safety Breakthrough." Its purpose was to devise techniques and new applications of tested procedures in an attempt to reduce the toll of occupational accidents.

Elect House Staff President

James A. Sandrolini, M.D., surgical resident, has been elected president of the Presbyterian-St. Luke's house staff for 1964-65. He succeeds John T. McManus, M.D., radiology resident.

Dr. Sandrolini received a M.S. degree at the University of Illinois and his M.D. degree from the university's college of medicine. He served a rotating internship at St. Luke's Hospital.

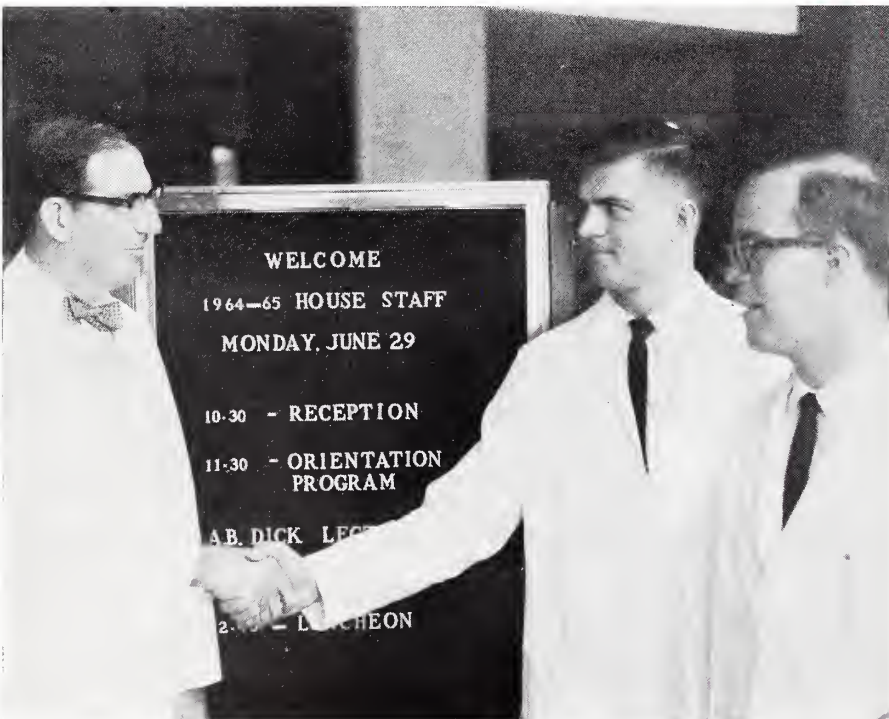

Dr. Sandrolini

Harvey J. Levin, M.D., surgical resident, has been named 1964-65 social chairman for the house staff. A graduate of the University of Illinois College of Medicine, Dr. Levin served a rotating internship at Presbyterian-St. Luke's Hospital.

Drs. John W. Riley, III, medicine, James H. Freel, obstetrics and gynecology, and Leo M. Henikoff, Jr., pediatrics, were elected to the house staff executive committee.

Twenty-four Hour Service

On June 22, Presbyterian-St. Luke's Hospital became the first hospital in the midwest to have a registered pharmacist on duty at all times. The pharmacy will serve in-patient needs on a 24-hour basis, seven days a week. This represents a 41% increase in pharmaceutical service.

Stenton A. Friedberg, M.D. (left), president of the medical staff, welcomes two members of the 1964-65 house staff who began their training July 1: Richard E. Dolbec, M.D., first year resident, and Robert E. Reynolds, M.D., intern.

"Trends in Pharmacy in Illinois" was the title of an address by Lonis Gdalan, director of pharmacy services, when he spoke before the Illinois Pharmaceutical Association May 26 at their 84th annual convention.

Margaret Deanesley, M.D., medical resident, became Mrs. Paul Ziegler on July 11. Drs. Deanesley and Ziegler were married in Hinsdale.

C/O FOCUS, Haiti, is the address for Drs. Michael Belson and Carter Tallman, ophthalmology residents, during July. They are serving in the eye clinic which FOCUS has set up in Haiti.

May 30 was the big day for Nancy Stevens, radiology, when she became Mrs. N. Ganthier.

A second place bowling trophy was picked up by Eadie McPeace, Barbara Brown, Cecelia Johnson and Minnie Moore from food service, and Annie Foster from nursing service. Known as the Elites, they bowl in a league sponsored by the McPeace Lounge.

Judy Edson, R.N., was married June 6 and recently returned after a three-week trip to Carmel and San Francisco.

John R. Walsh served as chairman of the host committee for the National Association of Hospital Accountants who met in June at the University of Chicago.

Presbyterian-St. Luke's was well represented in Mary Jo Stelk's wedding party. Miss Stelk, pediatric nursing, and John M. Corboy, M.D., rotating intern, were married June 27. Ushers included Drs. David L. Roseman, best man, H. Grady Sellards, Jr., and Stephen B. Ruskin; the bridesmaids were nurses Beverly Wager, Kathy Briel and Carol Bresadola.

Thank heavens: Isabella Ingram, R.N. just barely managed to return to the United States after a trip to her homeland, Aberdeen, Scotland. She left just before the Aberdeen typhoid epidemic began.

Bonnie Lein, administrative secretary, was married June 20 to Wayne Ours, a student at the University of Illinois College of Pharmacy.

For the second year, Janet Jentes, nursing service, and her husband were garden winners at the Old Town Art Fair. They received a ribbon for their window boxes and a special award for their patio.

After August 8, Nancy Hudson, administrative secretary, will be at home in Hamburg, Germany. She will be married in Crete, Illinois, on August 1 to Manfred Kriwel, an advertising executive. They sail for Germany on the 8th.

Thomas J. Caagan, Jr., M.D. (left), gets a few putting tips from Richard B. Capps, M.D. at the annual house staff outing June 24.

The weather was perfect, the food delicious and the gifts abundant at the June 24 house staff outing. In addition to volley ball and baseball, some excellent golf scores were turned in by our doctors. A nylon golf umbrella went to Philip I. Rossman, M.D., who won 1st low gross with a 75; Richard C. Ey, M.D. shot an 83 to win a dozen golf balls for 2nd low gross; there was a tie for low net: Robert W. Jamieson, M.D. and Rigby C. Roskelley, M.D.; and Charles F. McKiel, Jr., M.D., as high gross winner, received the following wire: "At least you didn't have to buy champagne for everyone." (signed) Tony Lema. An electric tooth brush, two-suitier luggage and an electric heat service tray were among the thirty-seven door prizes given to members of the house staff.

How would you like to prepare two roast suckling pigs, 40 pounds of spare-ribs, enough salad to fill a six-gallon tub, plus all the trimmings, and then have it disappear in fifteen minutes. That's what happened when more than 100 members of the house staff and their families attended the "luau" given by the House Staff Wives Club. Members of the Club expressed their appreciation for the generous gift provided by the house staff fund which made the luau possible.

The House Staff Wives Club, organized three years ago, held its first 1964-65 meeting July 1. The following officers were elected: Mrs. John M. McLean, president; Mrs. Richard L. Hughes, chairman, wives' programs; Mrs. James A. Sandrolini, chairman, special events; Mrs. David L. Roseman, treasurer; and Mrs. Aleu L. S. Pedreira, secretary. To introduce new house staff wives to the Chicago area, the club has planned various trips this summer, including: luncheon and tour of the Art Institute of Chicago, an evening at Ravinia, tour of the hospital, Marina City, Old Town, and an afternoon at the beach.

Joanne Cleveland, R.N., psychiatry, recently returned from a tour of England, the Scandinavian countries and the continent. Mrs. Cleveland and her husband especially enjoyed their time in Switzerland where they visited their many Swiss relatives.

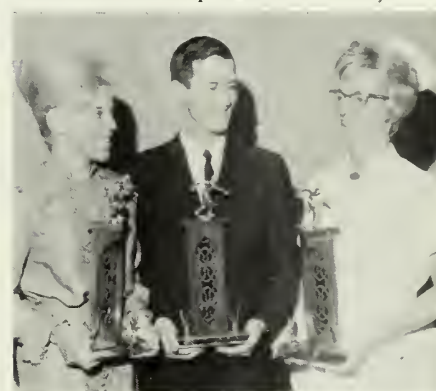

June 11 was a long day for Tarlease Bell, medical records. In addition to her eight hours at the hospital, she tagged for the Salvation Army for two hours prior to starting work, during her lunch time and at the end of the day. She was proud of the money she collected and grateful to the many hospital employees who gave so generously.

Proud parent . . . Al Varnas, accounting, whose son is now in Australia with the United States basketball team. We hope to see him on the Olympic team next year.

Joan Sheridan, R.N., in-service instructor in psychiatry, and Charles Patton, M.D., medical resident, are planning a late August wedding.

The new slate of officers for the Zonta Club of Chicago, a professional women's club, includes Josephine Schildberg, recording secretary, and Jane Wheeler Warren, corresponding secretary. Happy writing, girls!

At the annual meeting of the board of directors of Augustana College May 30, John E. Milton was elected to the board of the college's alumni association. Membership is for three years.

The Bombers (left to right): Peggy Primm, accounting, Ruben Navarro, purchasing, and Solly Bollenger, nursing service, members of the first place team of the Presbyterian-St. Luke's bowling league.

Drs. Jordan Waxman and Isaac Weiszer, medical residents, are enjoying a July vacation at Wright-Patterson Air Force Hospital in Dayton, Ohio. As members of the 640th USAF Hospital (Reserve), they devote one weekend a month and two weeks each summer to the largest reserve hospital in the air force. In addition to the responsibilities of patient care, mass casualty exercises are conducted during the summer encampment.

House Staff Awards

John G. Clark, M.D. (left), medical resident, received Flick Family Fund award from John S. Graettinger, M.D.

Seven residents and six interns were honored for their outstanding work during the past year. Awards were presented at the annual house staff outing given by the attending staff on June 24.

The Flick Family Fund Award, presented annually to an outstanding resident in medicine in the amount of $250, was awarded for the second consecutive year to James G. Clark, M.D. This award was created three years ago by the Frank Flick family of Oak Park.

The Rush Medical College awards are presented annually to an intern or resident in surgery and medicine for meritorious work. Each award is $100. This year the Rush award in surgery was presented to intern David L. Roseman, M.D. Awards in medicine were presented to interns Rhoda S. Pomerantz, M.D. and Gage VanHorne, III, M.D.

John S. Graettinger, M.D. (left) and Richard A. Corlton, M.D. offer congratulations to intern Rhoda Pomerantz, M.D. who received the Rush Medical College award in medicine.

The department of medicine honored the outstanding first, second and third year residents in medicine: John W. Riley, III, M.D., Norman W. Ream, M.D., and Thomas J. Coogan, Jr., M.D.

Richard G. Caldwell, M.D., surgical resident, received the Robertson Traveling Fellowship. This award is presented annually through the generosity of Mr. Hugh Robertson and through reciprocal arrangements with the Hammer-smith Hospital, London, England. Dr. Caldwell will study in London for a year and upon his return will serve as senior surgical resident.

The Dr. Fremont A. Chandler Memorial Research Award, established by an anonymous donor in memory of the late Dr. Chandler, orthopedic surgeon, was presented to Roger Lee Mehl.

Edward J. Beottie, Jr., M.D. (right) presents the Fremont A. Chandler award to Roger Lee Mehl, M.D., surgical resident.

M.D., surgical resident. This award of $100 and a scroll is presented to a resident to "encourage original research in either the basic sciences or in clinical problems." Dr. Mehl received the award for his research work in shock therapy.

James A. Sandrolini, M.D. was awarded the Selim W. McArthur Memorial Prize of $100 as the resident most capable in clinical surgery.

The Dr. Will F. Lyon Award, in the amount of $100, is presented annually to the intern who "in the performance of his duties, best exemplifies the high devotion and dedicated service which have characterized Dr. Lyon's professional career." This award was established by International Harvester Company to honor Dr. Lyon, who headed the company's medical department for many years and is on the hospital's emeritus staff. This year three awards were presented: Stephen Eric Kroczeck,

M.D., rotating intern; Craig B. Bass, M.D., surgical intern; and John Marshall McLean, M.D., medical intern.

John W. Riley, III, M.D. (left) receives congratulations from Theodore B. Schwartz, M.D. upon being named the outstanding first year medical resident.

Outstanding Teachers Honored by House Staff

Dr. Corleton

Dr. Economou

Special awards were presented by the house staff to members of the attending staff in medicine, surgery and the specialties who "best exemplify outstanding teaching and high standards of practice." Richard A. Carleton, M.D., associate director, cardio-respiratory section, medicine; Steven G. Economou, M.D., surgery; and specialties: Jack B. Drori, M.D., neurology, and B. Jay Hill, M.D., radiology and nuclear medicine.

Crusade of Mercy Seeks 100% Support

The first pledge of the 1964 combined appeal chority drive is presented to James J. Herman (left), hospital campaign chairman, by Norman A. Brady, executive vice president of the Presbyterian-St. Luke's Hospital.

The Presbyterian-St. Luke's Hospital combined appeal campaign gets underway this month. The chairman of the 1964 campaign is James J. Herman, assistant director of the hospital.

The 1964 charitable campaign will help the 138 health and welfare agencies of the Community Fund, the Mid-America Chapter of the American Red Cross, plus the Heart Fund and the Cancer Crusade.

"Our goal for this year is to achieve 100 per cent participation on the part of Presbyterian-St. Luke's Hospital employees," says campaign director Herman.

Last year's combined appeal campaign attained 88% participation in the hospital raising a total of $24,172.72. Thirty of the hospital's 69 departments achieved 100% participation.

Of the total raised, the Heart Fund and the Cancer Crusade each received $1,208.63. This year the two funds will each be given 5% of the total raised.

Campaign volunteers will ask for a pledge of one day's pay to be paid over the next year by payroll deduction. According to Mr. Herman, "This amount could be as little as 20 or 30 cents a week."

The once-a-year campaign will help six and a half million people living in a five county area of Chicagoland including Cook, DuPage, Lake, Will, and part of Kane county.

Drs. Hartmann and Higman Join Neurology Staff

Two new staff appointments in the department of neurology were recently announced by Norman A. Brady, executive vice president.

J. Francis Hartmann, Ph.D., former professor of anatomy at the University of Minnesota, has been appointed director of the newly formed section of neurobiology, department of neurology, Presbyterian-St. Luke's Hospital, and professor of neurobiology, University of Illinois College of Medicine.

Author of more than 45 scientific papers dealing with electron microscopy of the central nervous system, Dr. Hartmann is the co-developer of the glass knife now universally used for cutting the extremely thin tissue slices needed for electron microscopy.

A graduate of Holy Cross College, Dr. Hartmann received his Ph.D. degree in histology and embryology from Cornell University.

He has served as instructor in zoology at Cornell University and held a faculty appointment in anatomy for two years at Albany Medical College prior to his appointment at the University of Minnesota in 1945.

Henry Booth Higman, M.D., former instructor in neurology at Louisiana State University School of Medicine, has been appointed assistant attending neurologist at Presbyterian-St. Luke's Hospital and assistant professor of neurology at the University of Illinois College of Medicine.

A graduate of the University of Maryland School of Medicine, Dr. Higman served a rotating internship at the Delaware Hospital and a residency in neurology at Charity Hospital of Louisiana.

From 1959 to 1962, he was a special training fellow in neurochemistry at Columbia University under the National Institutes of Health. He is the author of 11 scientific papers dealing with the chemistry of conduction and transmission of nervous impulses.

In Memory

Dr. Joseph A. Copps, physician emeritus and honorary trustee of Presbyterian-St. Luke's Hospital, died September 15.

He had been a member of the staff since 1905 and a trustee of the Hospital since 1938. Dr. Copps was the father of Dr. Richard B. Copps.

A portion of the 11th floor of the Southcenter Building will be designated as a memorial to Dr. Copps. Funds for the memorial will come from gifts given in his memory and in his honor during the last year.

Applications Available For Mid-Income Housing

Presbyterian-St. Luke's Hospital has received an allocation in the new apartment building at 1926 West Harrison Street.

Applications for apartments, ranging in size from 1½ to 5½ rooms, may be obtained from John E. Milton or Gordon F. Craighead, Jr. in the administrative offices together with information on eligibility requirements.

Apartments are intended for middle income families and size of the apartment depends upon salary limitations.

Facilities include parking for $7.50 per month, plus shopping, laundering and other facilities on the ground floor.

Rentals begin at $85 for efficiency apartments to a maximum of $175 for the three bedroom apartments on the upper floors.

Application forms must be approved by the hospital prior to rental.

Tuition Aid Plan Helps School Bells Ring Anew

Going back to school this fall has become a little easier for many employees who are taking advantage of the new Tuition Aid Plan which offers partial tuition refunds for courses successfully completed.

Courses run the gamut from calculus and analytical geometry through parasitology, history, chemistry, physics, shorthand, and English to Shakespeare and educational psychology.

Application may be made for any course which will help the employee on the job or which will benefit both him and Presbyterian-St. Luke's Hospital. Courses must be taken on the employee's own time and at an approved college, university, or commercial school.

Northwestern, DePaul, Elmhurst, Roosevelt, Rosary, Loyola, Illinois, and Illinois Institute of Technology are among the schools in which hospital personnel are now studying.

This plan entitles the employee to a 50 per cent refund from the Hospital upon completion of the course with a passing grade. A maximum of two courses per semester and $100 per year will be allowed.

Information and application forms are available at the Personnel Department. All applications must be approved. Among those already receiving approval are applicants from accounting, nursing, purchasing, hematology, personnel, pathology, microbiology, social service, health center, library, and administrative services.

School of X-Ray Technology Graduates Eight

The division of radiology and nuclear medicine held graduation exercises for eight members of the School of X-Ray Technology in July.

Participating in the ceremony were Fay H. Squire, M.D., chairman, division of radiology and nuclear medicine; Ollie Sparks, administrative technician; Orville Senger, chief technician; and Lorraine Harris, student supervisor. Dr. Squire presented the diplomas.

The graduation was the fifth since the merger of Presbyterian and St. Luke's Hospitals and the introduction of the two-year curriculum. Prior to that time, the school offered an 18 month course.

Franklin S. Alcorn, M.D., associate attending radiologist, addressed the graduating class.

He spoke of the sense of duty and responsibility to the sick which is necessary in the para-medical field.

"As high school graduates, you stepped into the world of illness and disease and this is a very difficult step," Dr. Alcorn said. "You are in constant daily contact with people who are worried, afraid, unhappy, and generally miserable. The greatest thing you or I can give our patients is love."

Dr. Alcorn said that knowledge, performance, confidence, and a sense of duty are important attributes for success in the para-medical field.

Woman's Board Provides Scholarship

Due to the great need for professionally qualified social service workers in hospitals throughout the Chicago area, the Woman's Board of Presbyterian-St. Luke's Hospital has allocated $3510 to provide a scholarship for studies in medical social service for the academic year 1964-65.

This scholarship will cover tuition and living expenses for the second year of study at the University of Chicago School of Social Service Administration leading to a Master's degree with specialization in medical social service. The recipient of the scholarship agrees to work in the social service department at Presbyterian-St. Luke's Hospital for a minimum of one year.

Since 1957, the woman's board has contributed to a "careers in social work" program which offers one or two undergraduate students, interested in social work, an opportunity to work in the hospital's social service department for eight weeks during the summer. The 1964 recipient is Miss Paula Kuhn who will enter the University of Michigan graduate school of social work this fall under a U. S. Public Health Service scholarship.

Hospital Flag Flies At Official Functions

Members of the Presbyterian-St. Luke's family will have a chance to do some flag waving in the future. The hospital now has its own flag designed and made by two hospital employees.

The 28 x 40 inch green-and-white banner was designed by Peg Olson, public relations, and made by Marie Schieb, of the sewing department.

The new flag has flown over two recent hospital occasions. On September 16, it was raised at a meeting of the Board of Trustees. Previously, it waved over a meeting of the Presbyterian-St. Luke's Associates, a group of young men interested in the hospital.

Arrangements can be made through the public relations department for using the flag at any hospital function.

Navy Veteran Heads New Computer Center

Forbes H. Smith has been appointed as an assistant director of Presbyterian-St. Luke's Hospital following 20 years of service with the United States Navy.

Mr. Smith will be responsible for the development of a computer center and all electrical data processing activities in the hospital.

As a navy commander, Mr. Smith headed the systems and electronic data processing division of the Bureau of Medicine and Surgery of the U.S. Navy in Washington, D.C. since 1959.

Mr. Smith holds a masters degree in business administration from the Harvard Graduate School of Business Administration. He brings to Presbyterian-St. Luke's Hospital vast knowledge of the use of all types of computers and their application on business, finance, medicine, and scientific research.

Nursing Appointment

Dorothy Hughes, R.N., has been appointed assistant director, pediatric nursing.

A graduate of the Presbyterian School of Nursing, Miss Hughes joined the nursing staff in 1953 and was appointed head nurse, emergency-examining room, in 1955. In 1958 she worked for a board surgeon in Montana, returning to Presbyterian-St. Luke's Hospital in 1961. She was appointed assistant director, nursing equipment and supply and this past year also served as head nurse of the emergency-examining room. Miss Hughes holds Bachelor of Science and Masters of Science degrees in nursing from DePaul University.

Book Memorial Fund Honors Frank Kelly III

The development office has received a contribution establishing the Frank B. Kelly, III, Memorial Book Fund. These funds have been set aside to provide books for the Rush Medical Library.

A book plate is being designed to perpetuate the name of Frank B. Kelly, III, in the library.

Contributions to this fund should be sent to the development office of the hospital where details pertaining to the fund will be handled.

Viruses and Neoplasms Subject of Alumni Talk

The Alumni Foundation of Presbyterian-St. Luke's Hospital presented its first Skidmore, Owings, and Merrill Lecture on September 23 in the hospital's A. B. Dick amphitheatre.

The guest lecturer was James T. Grace, Jr., M.D., assistant director, Roswell Park Memorial Institute, Buffalo, New York. His subject was "Viruses and Neoplasms."

Dr. Grace received his internship and residency training at St. Luke's Hospital, Chicago. He is an associate research professor of surgery at the University of Buffalo School of Medicine and has co-authored 101 papers on cancer, surgery, immunology, and virology.

The Alumni Foundation was organized three years ago to maintain contact between present and former staff members, create and support a scientific journal, and aid the house staff loan fund. Its membership covers the 50 states and 21 foreign countries.

Diabetes Group Holds Semi-Annual Meeting

Presbyterian-St. Luke's Hospital hosted the fall meeting of the University Group Diabetes Program October 21-25. The program, sponsored by the National Institutes of Health, is a co-operative study of the degenerative complications of diabetes.

Begun in 1960, the project involves approximately 1000 patients at 12 university medical centers. Each patient participates in the program for a minimum of five years.

Case histories are evaluated and the data obtained is forwarded to the coordinating center at the University of Maryland in Baltimore. Twice a year the principal and co-investigators meet to assess the progress of the study.

Institutions participating in the project include: Western Reserve University, University of Cincinnati, Harvard University, Johns Hopkins University, University of Alabama, Brooklyn Jewish Chronic Disease Hospital, Washington University, University of Minnesota, Williamson Hospital, University of Puerto Rico, and the University of Maryland.

The project will be the subject of a book of methodology which will serve as a model for future large cooperative projects in the field of medicine.

The Chicago branch of the program was begun in 1962 under the direction of Dr. Theodore B. Schwartz, director of the hospitals' section of endocrinology, and Dr. W. Randolph Tucker.

Mrs. Chappell, Jr., Honored At Woman's Board Meeting

Mrs. George S. Chappell, Jr., was presented a plaque in honor of the three years she served as president of the Presbyterian-St. Luke's Hospital Woman's Board at its annual meeting in October.

The plaque has been placed in the visitor's room on the second floor of Pavillion which was recently remodeled by the Woman's Board.

At the meeting, Mrs. Paul W. Oliver was elected to succeed Mrs. Chappell as president. Mrs. Oliver formerly served as first vice president.

Dr. Campbell Elected President

JAMES A. CAMPBELL, M.D.
New Presbyterian-St. Luke's President

James A. Campbell, M.D., has been elected president and chief executive officer of Presbyterian-St. Luke's Hospital by the Board of Trustees. The announcement was made by George B. Young, board chairman.

Dr. Campbell will assume his duties on November 18. He became chairman of the department of medicine at Presbyterian Hospital in 1953, and in 1958 was named chairman of the division of medicine at Presbyterian-St. Luke's Hospital.

In making the announcement Mr. Young said, "The selection of Dr. Campbell to fill this office culminates a six month intensive search.

"Having established a firm economic basis, the trustees recognized that the major decisions which a hospital of this sort must now make are primarily medical in character. They have, therefore, sought the best possible medical candidate for president, and feel they have found him in Dr. Campbell."

Dr. Campbell, a native of Illinois, attended Knox College and the University of Chicago. Following his graduation from Harvard Medical School where he received his M.D. degree in 1943, he interned on the Harvard Medical Service of the Boston City Hospital. He also served as resident in medicine there and held a fellowship in the Thorndike Memorial Laboratory until he entered the Army.

Dr. Campbell was a captain in the medical corps and assigned as executive officer of the medical division of the Army Chemical Center. Following his discharge he was awarded the Harvey Cushing Fellowship at Johns Hopkins University and Hospital which post he held until coming to Presbyterian Hospital in 1948 where he developed the cardiac laboratory in the department of medicine.

In 1951 at age 33, he left Chicago to become dean and professor of medicine of the Albany Medical College of Union University in Albany, New York. He returned to Presbyterian Hospital in 1953.

Alumni Foundation Adds $5,000 to House Staff Fund

A transfer of $5,000 from the Presbyterian-St. Luke's Hospital Alumni Foundation to the House Staff Loan Fund in September brought the amount contributed by the organization to a total of $13,000.

This represents almost one-half of the total funds now available for house staff loans.

Support of the House Staff Loan Fund is one of the major objectives for which the Alumni Foundation was created. An initial transfer was made in March 1962 when $8,000 was turned over to the committee headed by Dr. Earle Gray.

What's new? What's been happening to you lately? Engagements, weddings, births? Interesting trips? Has someone in your department received an award lately?

If you have any news at all please let your department's NEWS ROUNDS reporter know about it. We would like nothing more than to let the entire hospital know. If no reporter is assigned to your department, you may send items directly to NEWS ROUNDS Editor, Public Relations department.

SCHOOL BANNER—Student nurses Diana Pendleton (left) and Judy Tuzikowski admire the new School of Nursing banner presented by Mrs. Frank P. Hixon in memory of Harriet Kendig Lang. At recent graduation ceremonies, the two girls carried the banner as it was unveiled and presented to the school. The banner was made by the Episcopal nuns.

Surgical Club Discusses Hospital Past and Future

The Surgical Club of Presbyterian-St. Luke's Hospital held its first meeting on October 7 at the Conrad Hilton Hotel.

Three speakers highlighted the dinner meeting. Drs. Geza deTakats and Edwin M. Miller spoke respectively on the surgical histories of St. Luke's and Presbyterian Hospitals. Dr. Edward J. Beattie, Jr., covered the surgical future of Presbyterian-St. Luke's Hospital.

Nursing School Admits 166

The School of Nursing admitted 166 new students on September 19-20. The majority of the class of '67 comes from Chicago and surrounding communities, however, 41 come from out-of-state. Among the states represented are California, Florida, Idaho, Nebraska, and Rhode Island.

Holiday Socials Fill Staff Wives' Calendar

With the advent of the fall holiday season, members of the House Staff Auxiliary are planning a full schedule of social events.

A luncheon will be held for all members of the auxiliary on November 11 at noon in the Gabriele Tea Room, Oak Park. A donation will be asked to provide a rocking chair for the pediatrics department.

To make Christmas shopping a little easier for busy husbands, the auxiliary will hold a Christmas Bazaar on November 13-14 in the lobby of the student apartment building.

Charcoal sketches made on-the-spot, photographs of children, glass blowing, and wig-making will be among the gifts and specialty items offered for sale. The bazaar will be held for the benefit of the pediatrics department.

Associates Hear Talk On Internship Program

James A. Campbell, M.D., chairman of the division of medicine, spoke to the Associates of the Hospital at their October 29 meeting in the School of Nursing.

Dr. Campbell spoke of the hospital's internship program, the value of a house staff, and the problems of recruiting top quality interns.

The Associates are a group of 50 promising young businessmen whose potential could qualify them to assume positions of leadership.

Librarian Group Meets At School of Nursing

Presbyterian-St. Luke's School of Nursing will host the fall meeting of the Nursing School Librarians of Metropolitan Chicago on November 4.

More than 50 librarians, directors, and faculty members from five states will participate in the program which will discuss the history of nursing, orienting the new student nurse, and the latest in medical and nursing books.

Librarians will attend from Minnesota, Iowa, Wisconsin, Indiana, as well as Illinois. Arrangements for the meeting were made by Mrs. Eileen Tinkham, head librarian of Presbyterian-St. Luke's School of Nursing.

New Program Offered In Practical Nursing

Presbyterian-St. Luke's Hospital is offering a new program for training present employees as practical nurses.

Under the new program, employees' schedules are arranged to permit them to work 20 hours per week at their regular rate of pay. They are paid for an additional 20 hours as a subsidy while they are training.

Four employees are now receiving this advanced training. They are Leon Anderson, an orderly, and three nurses aides, Mrs. Elvie Durham, Mrs. Edna Morris, and Mrs. Ann Shivers.

Seventy-five applications have been submitted for the program. Those selected have agreed to remain with the hospital upon completion of their training.

CORRIDOR NEWS

There will be no more confusion between the Misses Miller in the x-ray department. They will both change their names this month when wedding bells chime. Sandra Miller, technician, will become Mrs. Russell Tyndall on November 7. Karen Miller, therapy technician will become Mrs. David Backman on November 26.

Three members of the operating room nursing staff are heading south of the border this month. Spending the first two weeks of November in Mexico will be Hilda Clark, assistant supervisor, Mildred Smith, head nurse, and Diane Barrett, staff nurse.

Dr. Paul Savory, of radiology, addressed the Clinical Congress of the American College of Surgeons at the Palmer House in October.

Colonel Paul W. Searles, M.D., chairman of anesthesiology, received a superior rating as commander of the 801st Army Hospital at Fort Leonard Wood, Missouri this summer.

Pediatrics Nurse Deserves Bouquets

One of the attributes of a great hospital is the friendly, efficient concern of the staff for the patients. For displaying this kind of concern, bouquets should be sent to Mrs. Linda Burnside, LPN, pediatrics.

Mrs. Burnside heard of the death of the dachshund pet of 14 year old pediatrics patient, Bobby Olson. Bobby was due to return home for a visit and had not been told of his pet's death. To make the sad news easier to bear for Bobby, Mrs. Burnside gave him one of the dachshund puppies to which her family pet had recently given birth.

The students and faculty of the School of Nursing held a "Bon Voyage" party for Joyce Mchakata, of Tanganyika, East Africa prior to her return to her homeland in September. Joyce spent two years at the School of Nursing. Upon graduation she received an award for outstanding performance in patient care and scholastic achievement.

Dr. B. Jay Hill, radiology, attended the Neuroradiology Conference in New York recently.

Florence Lockerby, School of Nursing English department, will attend the National Convention of Teachers of English in Cleveland, Ohio on November 25-28.

Lorna Allen, medical records, recently completed a special educational program for hospital secretaries sponsored by the Loop Junior College and the Chicago Hospital Council. The course was designed to train secretaries for more responsibility and greater understanding of the rapidly growing hospital field.

Two members of the Food Service department have made recent trips to Europe. E. Virginia Pinney and Winifred Ayers toured the continent together for the first time.

Barber's Son Shows Artistic Talent

The many favorable comments about the medical drawings on the walls of the hospital barber shop have been a source of pride for Dick Harris, hospital barber. The drawings are the work of Dick's 12 year old son, Martin, who recently won first prize in an art contest sponsored by Compton's Picture Encyclopedia.

Drs. Fay H. Squire and F. S. Alcorn recently returned from a meeting of the American College of Radiology in Minneapolis. Dr. Squire is secretary-treasurer of the college.

Cafeteria Worker Picks Horse for Sweepstakes

ELLIS PRICE
He took the chance of a lifetime

How do you turn three dollars into nearly a thousand? Why not ask the cafeteria's Ellis Price? He did it and it wasn't hard at all.

Ellis placed a three dollar bet on River Chanter to run in the Irish Sweepstakes. You can imagine his surprise when he saw his name listed in the newspaper as having his horse run in the world-famed sweepstakes.

Although his horse came in fifth, Ellis will receive $932.40 just for picking his horse to run.

Elizabeth Marston, R.T. and Frances Youngwith, R.T. learned the latest methods in x-ray procedures at the annual convention of the X-Ray Technicians' Society of New York State, Inc. in Rochester, N. Y.

Henry C. Stuecher, manager of laundry and linen service, has been named the "Laundry Manager of the Year" by the Institutional Laundry Managers Association of Illinois.

He has been active with the association for many years and for the past two years has served as chairman of the association's educational committee.

Mr. Stuecher represented the Illinois association at the 24th annual conference of the National Association of Institutional Laundry Managers recently held in New York.

Drs. Richard A. Carleton and Jerry P. Lewis presented papers to the Central Society for Clinical Research held on November 4 at the Drake Hotel.

If you want to know how to beat a slot machine just ask Jo Ann Young, medical supervisor in pediatrics. She spent her vacation in Las Vegas and should have some helpful tips.

Hilda Clark, assistant supervisor of the operating room, was a featured speaker at the nurses' seminar sponsored by the Illinois Heart Association and the fourth district of Illinois Nurses Association. Barbara Rittmanic, assistant head nurse, intensive therapy, also spoke on "The Role of the Nurse During Cardiac Surgery" and "Post Operative Care of the Patient."

Dr. Robert Kark, director of renal and nutrition unit, has been elected to the Council of the American Society for Clinical Nutrition.

Norman A. Brady, executive vice president of the Hospital, was recently named to the board of directors of the Arthritis and Rheumatism Foundation.

Art Teacher Has Sculpture Show

Don Seiden, art teacher in psychiatry, is showing his sculpture at the Deborah Sherman Gallery on Michigan Avenue, November 2-30. Don is a contemporary sculptor working with welded and melted metal.

Stanley Shimoda, M.D., was awarded a fellowship in gastro-enterology at the University of Seattle beginning July, 1965.

Dr. Poul E. Andersen, of Norway, toured the X-ray department in October. He was touring major hospital x-ray departments in the United States studying management procedures.

Mrs. Arlene Daniels, LPN, recently returned to work in the pediatrics department following the birth of her 8 lb. 11½ ounce baby, Warren Scott.

Hospital Barber Returns to Italy

The man who must hold Presbyterian-St. Luke's Hospital's attendance record recently broke that near perfect record to return to his native Italy for a family reunion.

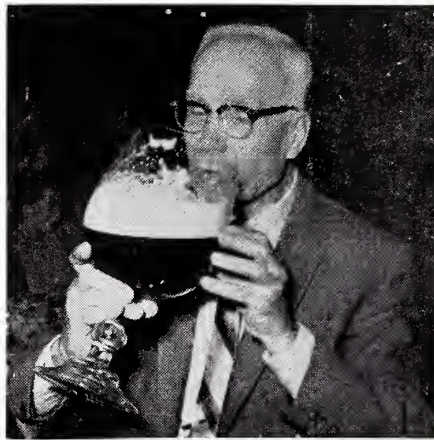

Sam Cosentino, one of the hospital barbers, who will be celebrating his 40th anniversary with the hospital on November 5, returned to Cosenza, Italy in September for the first time in 51 years. He came to the United States at the age of 16 by himself to live with an uncle.

The friendly barber spent one week of his six week European tour with his niece who still lives in the town of his birth.

Much of his time was spent renewing old acquaintances. One of the most enjoyable experiences of his trip was visiting the barber from whom he learned his trade at the age of 14.

"He is 90 years old now and still cutting hair," Sam says. "In fact, the same barber chair I used as a kid is still in the shop, although it has been reupholstered a number of times."

Until the merger of Presbyterian and St. Luke's hospitals, vacations were just something to dream about for Sam. He was the only barber working at Presbyterian Hospital and he felt that it was easier not to take a vacation than to train someone to the special duties and procedures required of a hospital barber.

In all of the time he has been with the hospital, Sam can only remember missing about five days of work. One day was when his daughter was born and another was 19 years later on the day she was married.

Sam made the tour with his wife. Other stops took the Cosentino's to London, Paris, Rome, Heidelberg, Monaco, and Brussels.

For Sam the barber it was a long wait to return home but it was well worth it.

Medical Technologists Host State Meeting

The School of Medical Technology hosted the annual meeting of the Illinois Medical Technologists Association October 23-25. The theme of the meeting was "Problems in Teaching Medical Technology Students."

Teaching supervisors and laboratory personnel throughout the state attended the meeting.

Marjorie Stumpe, associate director of the school, was chairman of the program on October 23. Dr. Jerry Lewis, hematologist, was a guest speaker on October 25 at the Essex Motel.

Surgeons Lead Bowlers As First Month Closes

At mid-October, the Presbyterian-St. Luke's bowling league saw the "Surgeons" take two games from the "Sssst's" to move into first place in the league. Second place was firmly held down by the "Nine Pins," while the "Tops" and the "Sssst's" tied for third.

Mike Haklin, hyperbaric chamber, lead the men kegler's with an individual high game of 207 and a high series of 527.

Pat Soltes, hematology, held the honors in the female division with a 191 individual game and a 502 series.

Of Thanksgiving and Hunger

by Chaplain William A. Wagner

THANKSGIVING DAY becomes an annual national holiday by Presidential proclamation. We are exhorted to give thanks to God according to individual faith and one's understanding of gratitude.

By Scripture told to pray "Give us this day our daily bread," we are also reminded "Man shall not live by bread alone."

Recurring hungers remind us we are dependent creatures. Man's hungers indicate necessities.

Some necessities are beyond the obvious call of the stomach. The multiple varieties of hunger remind us of the unique quality of the human being.

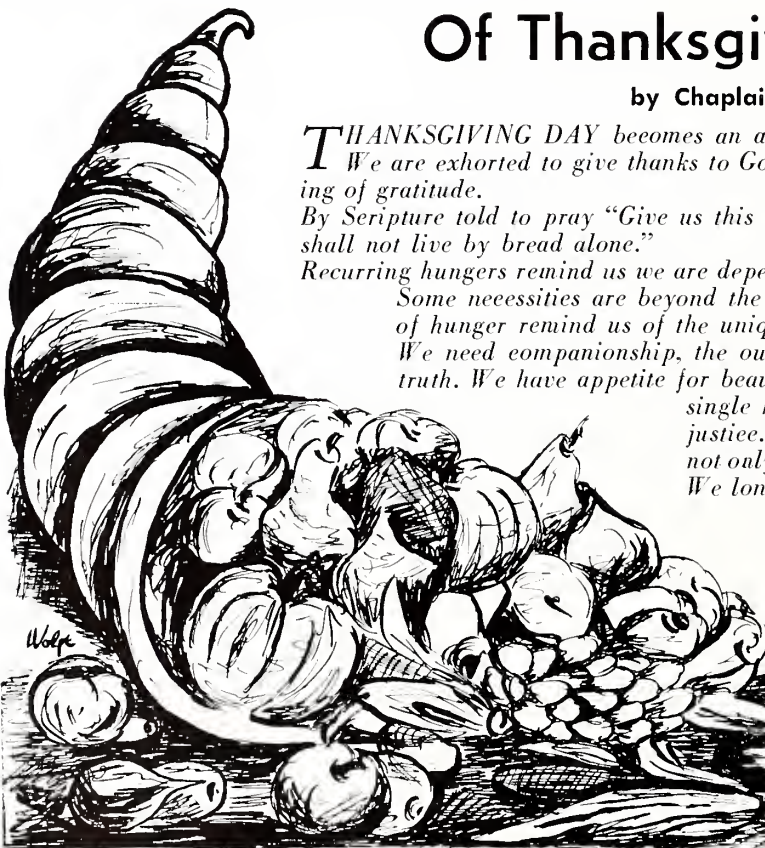

We need companionship, the outreach of community. We thirst for knowledge and truth. We have appetite for beauty. The impulse to create seems unappeased by any single helping of self-expression. We feel deprived without justice. We "hunger and thirst for righteousness," whetted not only by pangs of conscience but by the ache for wholeness.

We long deeply for love, and for peace. We can digest such fruits of the spirit insofar as we can ingest the necessity of personal involvement.

No man has everything, no man has enough, so long as these hungers persist. We can be thankful for such promptings and aspirations. To be aware of them is to be more fully alive to our purpose and potential in life. In thanks, we can pledge the use of our lives in serving such hungers, beyond the lean larders of the poor or the restricted food trays of the sick.

Faith says there is no satiety short of harmony in union with God. "As the young deer desireth the water brooks, so longeth my soul after thee, O God."

CHRISTMAS FEVER HITS HOSPITAL

The Christmas holiday season brings with it feelings of friendship and good cheer. All over the hospital members of the Presbyterian-St. Luke's family are preparing special holiday treats and throwing open their doors to fellow employees and friends. Special services in recognition of the holy season are being planned for the hospital Chapel.

The high point of the Christmas season will be the annual hospital personnel Christmas party to be held December 22 in the School of Nursing from 1:30 p.m. to 4 p.m. The party committee is working on plans to make this year's party the biggest and best in hospital history. Everyone is invited.

The traditional opening of the holiday season has been the patients' library open house and book sale. This year it will be held on December 8 at 9 a.m. in the library on the first floor, Pavillion.

Egg nog and cookies made by the members of the library committee of the Woman's Board will be served.

The book sale will consist of nearly 2000 books ranging in price from 10 cents to a dollar. All the books are in almost new condition and come from the library shelves and special donations to the library.

The volunteer department will begin its six-day open house celebration on December 14. Hostesses from the volunteer committee of the Woman's Board will serve egg nog and cookies to all visitors to the volunteer department on the first floor, Pavillion, from 2 to 4 p.m. daily.

The Health Center will hold its annual children's party on December 12 at 9 a.m. in the Nurses' residence. Approximately 125 children from 4 to 12 years of age will attend. The House Staff Auxiliary will serve ice cream, cookies, and milk. A puppet show by the Junior League of Evanston and a visit from Santa Claus will highlight the party.

The senior citizens' party of the Health Center will be held on December 17 at 1:30 p.m. in the nurses' residence. Members of the Woman's Board

It is good that we shall be singing carols this Christmas time. That we shall light candles and exchange gifts. And that some of us will go to church and pray.

For Christmas should mean much more than a mere conventional celebration of the yuletide. It stands for the breaking into human life of the very spirit of God in the birth of a little child. It points on toward the monhood choracter of one in whom we have seen human life at its very best and highest. We aspire to build into our lives and into our society the truth that he brought to light.

So in our homes and in our work, in our worship and in our lives, let us delight in all the joyous customs of the Christmas time, with a prayer that there may persist in our hearts and in all our associations throughout the year the Christlike spirit of good will toward all men everywhere.

—Herbert N. Brockway, Choplain will act as hostesses and provide gifts for the 135 senior citizens expected to attend. Santa will also be on hand to distribute gifts.

On December 21, the Health Center will hold an open house for all members of the Presbyterian-St. Luke's family and the patients of the hospital and clinics. It will take place on the first floor of the Health Center.

The open house has been a tradition for several years. Coffee and baked goods made by the employees of the Health Center will be served. A wide variety of cookies, donuts, coffee cake, candy, and special open-faced sandwiches will be included.

Santa Claus will pay his visit to the pediatric department on December 22 at 1 p.m. He'll be bringing gifts for the children. Cookies and milk will be waiting for him and those who attend the party.

The School of Nursing chorus will carol throughout the Hospital on December 14 beginning at 7 p.m.

The chaplains have planned special services for the holy season in the J. Hall Taylor Memorial Chapel. The services will be broadcast to all patients via the pillow speaker system at 10:30 a.m. on December 13, 20, 25, and 27. Holy Communion is scheduled in the Chapel at 9 a.m. on December 20, 25, and 27. Everyone is welcome to attend the services at the Chapel.

Hospital Trip to Offer Low European Air Rates

Three weeks in Europe at the lowest air fares ever is a special vacation treat being offered to members of the Presbyterian-St. Luke's family.

Through charter arrangements with the airlines, hospital personnel are able to fly round trip to Europe for as little as $245. All employees, members of the attending and house staffs, hospital volunteers, board members, Woman's Board members, and nursing personnel are eligible.

Dr. John S. Long, obstetrics and gynecology, and Richard Slottow, development office, are coordinators.

The Air France jet flight will leave Chicago for Paris on March 14. The return flight will be from Madrid via Iberian Airlines three weeks later. In the three weeks between, travelers will be free to go wherever they wish.

The flight will be open to the first 137 persons who make reservations. Full payment will be due by January 10. Reservations may be made by calling extension 2451.

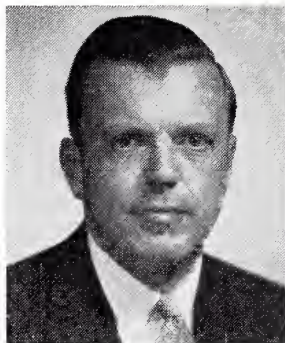

Additional travel arrangements including tours and ski trips can be made through Elsa K. Borowski, Astra Travel.

Gift Sale Helps Shoppers

The Gift Shop's annual Hospital Christmas sale will be held in the East Pavillion lobby on Monday, December 7, from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m.

There will be attractive gift items, Christmas wrappings and decorations, and cards for sale. The shop will be decked out in the finest holiday style.

Board Elects Officers for '64-'65

A. B. DICK, III

GEORGE YOUNG

WM. COLLINS, JR.

George B. Young was elected chairman of the board of trustees of Presbyterian-St. Luke's Hospital at the annual meeting on November 18.

Mr. Young, executive vice president of Field Enterprises, Inc., joined the board in 1953. This is his second term as chairman.

William M. Collins, Jr., was elected vice chairman of the board and Albert B. Dick, III, chairman of the executive committee.

Other officers elected for the 1964-65 year include: Justin A. Stanley, vice chairman, executive committee; James A. Campbell, M.D., president; Norman A. Brady, executive vice president; Richard S. Slottow, vice president, development and public relations; Anthony L. Michel, secretary; Solomon B. Smith, treasurer; Gordon Arey, assistant treasurer; and Thomas Arthur, assistant secretary.

New members elected to the board include Mrs. Paul W. Oliver, president of the Woman's Board, and the Rt. Rev. James F. Montgomery, Bishop of the Chicago Episcopal Diocese.

Employees Give $23,147 To '64 Combined Appeal

Presbyterian-St. Luke's Hospital employees contributed a total of $23,147.55 to the combined appeal drive for 1964. The average gift per giver was $13.12. This is the highest per capita giving in the history of the hospital's once-a-year charity drive.

The 30 hospital departments achieving 100% participation include administration, biochemistry, blood bank, central dictating, chaplain's office, data processing, and employee health service.

Additional 100 percenters include endowed nursing, examining room, housekeeping, laundry and linen service, mail and messenger service, medical records, microbiology, neurology, nursing service office, pathology, and the patients' library.

Other departments showing 100% participation are personnel, photography, physical therapy, psychology, public relations, purchasing, Rush Medical Library, security, social service, speech and hearing clinic, transfusion therapy service, and the volunteer office.

PETE'S PALS—The many friends of Pete Piperoff, hospital plumber, gathered to wish him well upon his retirement after nearly 46 years with the hospital. The party was held on October 30 in the U. S. Steel Room of the cafeteria. Attending were (left to right): Hans Clausen, Jack Murphy, Don Valentine, Jr., Alex Hair, John Antoniello, Ivo Biancalana, Pete, Don Baggerly, Fred Catron, and Paul Smith.

Hilda McLean, social service, will play the mother of Sigmund Freud in the Park District production of "A Far Country," December 10-12. She recently appeared in the Hull House presentation of "Three Penny Opera."

If you noticed that faraway look in the eyes of Rosemarie Narducci, pharmacy, it's because she is thinking of the three weeks she spent in Hawaii in October.

Bonnie DeSplinter, an x-ray technician, and Bill Fry, of the business office, have announced their engagement. Church bells should chime in June.

Bertha Lee, laundry and linen service, became a grandmother for the second time on October 20. Her daughter gave birth to a 6 lb. 13 ounce girl named Cynthia Alane Houston.

It was almost another honeymoon trip for Athena Squier, patient librarian, and her husband when they spent 10 days near Niagara Falls during the Thanksgiving season. The only difference was that they were visiting their daughter and six grandchildren in Youngstown, New York.

Dr. and Mrs. Henry M. Tufo became the proud parents of a baby boy, Henry M., Jr., on November 5.

Mary Jo Christian, vital statistics, received a diamond in her trick-or-treat bag on Halloween. She became engaged to Robert Kemp, of Western Electric Company. Plans call for the wedding next September.

Norman A. Brady, executive vice president, has been named to the board of directors of the Illinois Hospital Association.

Dr. James A. Sandrolini, resident surgery, was recently promoted to the rank of major in the Illinois Air National Guard. In four years as a member of the Guard, he has acquired nearly 1,000 hours flying time. In November, he spent a weekend in Bermuda following an over-water navigational mission with the crew of his refueling tanker. Dr. Sandrolini has made similar trips to Puerto Rico, Hawaii, and Spain in the past.

Diane Wrzeskinski, x-ray registration desk, has announced her engagement to Frank Samborski.

Betty Lou Rogowski, R.N., intensive therapy, gave birth to a handsome baby boy, David Michael, on November 17.

It was back to the wide, open spaces for Dorothy Hughes, R.N., assistant director, pediatric nursing. She spent her two week vacation last month in Libby, Montana, where she worked prior to coming to Presbyterian-St. Luke's. It's rumored that you still have to take a buckboard to get into that state.

Dr. Paul W. Greeley, surgery, was recently given an award for 25 years service in the U.S. Navy.

Dr. and Mrs. Robert Gottlieb welcomed a new son to their family on November 17. The Gottlieb's have two other children. He is a resident in the radiology department.

The School of Nursing chorus will present a concert of Advent and Christmas music at the Chicago Sunday Evening club in Orchestra Hall on December 6 at 7:30 p.m. The chorus will be under the direction of Francis V. Gregory with accompanist Raymond Schutt. The performance will be televised on Channel 11.

Mrs. and Mrs. Robert Fanning are bursting with pride over their first-born, a son, James Edmund. Linda Fanning is a staff nurse in the operating room and Bob handles patient relations for the hospital.

Professional Activities

The Surgical division sent Louise Stewart, staff nurse in the operating room, to Cleveland, Ohio to attend a workshop on open heart pump equipment. She made a report on what she learned to the research meeting on November 9.

Dr. B. Jay Hill, radiology, addressed the x-ray technicians at the Chicago Wesley Hospital on November 13.

Dr. Franklin Alcorn, radiology, spoke on mammography at St. Francis Hospital, Evanston, on November 24.

Dr. James H. Freel, surgical resident, attended a meeting on blood coagulation in Brooklyn, New York on November 9-10.

Dr. David L. Roseman, surgical resident surgery, presented a paper on peptic ulcers in steroid-treated patients at the Western Surgical Society meeting in Colorado Springs, Colorado on November 19.

OOPS . . . last month it was erroneously reported that Dr. Stanley Shimoda had been awarded a fellowship in gastroenterology at the University of Seattle. This should have read the University of Washington. We are especially embarrassed since the University of Washington has one of the best enterology departments in the country.

MARCELLA KURTZ
Doesn't worry about superstitions

Don't ask Marcella Kurtz, Health Center supervisor, about Friday-the-thirteenth superstitions. She had plenty of first-hand experience with the bad things that can happen on last month's "black day."

Her troubles began as she went to make a morning pot of coffee and broke the glass pot. Then as she was dressing for work, she broke her watchband.

After arriving at work and having her hair set at the hospital beauty shop, the spray hose in the shop's sink squirted water all over the front of her dress and on her newly set hair.

Fortunately, her luck improved when she made her scheduled appearance at traffic court. The judge acquitted her of the alleged traffic violation and she did not have to pay the fine.

Acting Chairman Named To Division of Medicine

Theodore B. Schwartz, M.D., has assumed the duties of acting chairman of the Division of Medicine at Presbyterian-St. Luke's Hospital. The post was vacated when James A. Campbell, M.D., chairman since 1958, was elected hospital president.

Dr. Schwartz will continue as director of the hospital's section of endocrinology and metabolism, a position he has held since 1955.

Prior to joining the medical staff of the hospital, Dr. Schwartz served on the faculty of the Duke University School of Medicine. He received his M.D. degree at Johns Hopkins School of Medicine in 1943. He served his internship at Johns Hopkins Hospital and residency at Salt Lake General Hospital.

"DO" Girls Important to Hospital and Education

DO GIRLS AT WORK—Eight students from the Flower Vocational High School are working at Presbyterian-St. Luke's Hospital while earning their diplomas. Among those participating in the diversified occupations program (DO) are (left to right) Doris Hych, central service; Miriam Walker, mail room; and Brenda Stokely, medical records. They are filling necessary positions in the hospital.

The Chicago Board of Education has recognized the cooperation of Presbyterian-St. Luke's Hospital in utilizing the services of part-time employees who are currently working for high school diplomas.

The employees, all girls attending the Flower Vocational High School, are participants in the diversified occupations program (DO) designed to prevent drop-outs by offering the positive incentives of employment and recognition.

In offering part-time employment to the students, the hospital is fulfilling its own employment needs while providing proper motives for obtaining an education.

The ambitious program was begun in 1961. It has trained 21 students in four areas of hospital work: medical records, food service, central service, and the mail room.

Designed to coincide with the girl's course in home economics, the DO program was developed by the Chicago director of vocational education for girls, Mrs. Helen Evans, and the Flower School principal, Dr. Marjorie Mills. John B. King, director of personnel relations, served as coordinator for the hospital.

The program has a twofold purpose: to retain students in school until graduation and to provide training which will make the students more desirable to prospective employers upon graduation.

Junior and senior students of the vocational high school are eligible to be DO girls. They work on a split schedule with one girl working the four morning hours and her counterpart taking over in the afternoon. The time not spent at the hospital is spent in the classroom at Flower High School.

Presbyterian-St. Luke's currently has eight DO girls working in four departments: medical records, Brenda Stok-ley and Prather Gulley; central service, Doris Hych and Michelle James; mail room, Miriam Walker; and food service, Doris Love, Pearl Chipps, and Jeanette Keys.

According to Flower High School's diversified occupations coordinator, Mrs. Marion W. Esposito, "Many girls do not see the need to learn many of the subjects taught in school. After participating in the program, they become aware of the fact that they need to learn a lot more."

Hospital coordinator, John King, says, "The reaction of department supervisors has been quite favorable. We find that through the program we are not only filling necessary hospital positions, but also are performing a vital service for the community and for better education."

Administrators Conduct Panel at State Meeting

Norman A. Brady, executive vice president, and John R. Walsh, controller, spoke at the annual meeting of the Illinois Hospital Association, October 29-30.

The two members of the administration participated in a workshop entitled "Preserving Our Tax Exemptions." Mr. Brady was moderator of the panel.

The Illinois Hospital Association is a voluntary organization of over 300

Bulletin Reputation Penetrates Iron Curtain

The reputation of the Presbyterian-St. Luke's Hospital Medical Bulletin published by the Alumni Foundation is travelling far and wide.

Recently the foundation received a request for a reprint of Dr. W. F. Hejna's article "Comparative Study of Bone Implants" from the National Institute of Traumatology in Budapest, Hungary.

Psychiatry Dept. Honors Memory of Dr. Meduna

The department of psychiatry honored the late Ladislav J. Meduna, M.D., consulting psychiatrist, at a business meeting in the U.S. Steel room on November 11. Dr. Meduna died October 31.

Dr. Paul E. Nielson, chairman of the department, presided and Dr. Alfred P. Solomon, attending psychiatrist, outlined Dr. Meduna's career. The meeting was attended by members of the department and friends.

A native of Budapest, Hungary, Dr. Meduna was appointed to the hospital staff in 1942. He discovered the convulsive treatment for neurosis and the use of carbon dioxide in treating neuroses.

licensed hospitals throughout the state. Its primary purpose is to improve hospital service to Illinois citizens.

Bowlers Roll for Turkeys; Prove Ladies for the Birds

The Presbyterian-St. Luke's bowling league rolled for turkeys recently, but they weren't the kind you get when you score three strikes in a row. They were the real thing.

Thanksgiving turkeys were awarded to the four keglers who bowled the most pins above their average. Those who think women are "for the birds" got proof of it from the turkey roll. All prizes went to the ladies.

Virginia Schuler, nursing, rolled 99 pins over her average. Vivian Lewis, psychiatry, came out 56 pins ahead. Esther Naylor, private duty nurse, and Ann Majdecki tied with 49 pins.

At mid-November, the "Surgeons" were still in first place with a four game lead over the "Nine Pins."
